Mrs. Nixon's Peruvian Visit Huge Success

Hope For Boost In Relief Aid For Quake Victims

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon came home from Peru with compliments for a goodwill relief mission described as diplomatically and personally successful.

She said she hoped it would focus worldwide attention on the needs of 800,000 people homeless since a May 31 earthquake.

"They have a lot of courage and will and I know they will recover with the help of the people in this country and throughout the world," she said on her arrival Tuesday.

Mrs. Nixon noted the U.S. may have competition in relief aid, referring to rumblings of international rivalry in the effort. But, she said, "That's good. I don't mind that kind of competition."

Mrs. Nixon won thanks and praise from Peruvian officials, from President Nixon and from the refugees she went to console in the devastated high valleys of the Andes.

It was a mission such as no other first lady ever had undertaken. And President Nixon jokingly suggested: "We will now have invitations for her to represent us in other places, too."

Sounding out the diplomatic reactions in Lima, U.S. Ambassador Taylor G. Belcher said the trip was "a tremendous success" and would certainly improve the somewhat strained diplomatic relations between the two countries. "It can't help but help," he added.

Reds Down 2 U.S. Helicopters

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. helicopters were shot down Tuesday night just inside South Vietnam's border with Cambodia, killing eight Americans and wounding five, the U.S. Command announced today.

A spokesman said it was not known what type of mission the two UH1 choppers were on when enemy fire brought them down one and two miles south of the border across which the last American combat troops in Cambodia had withdrawn the day before.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported a total of 86 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed in scattered fighting in South Vietnam, most of them by air attack.

In Cambodia, more than 5,000 South Vietnamese troops were sweeping areas north of Phnom Penh, and 800 more U.S.-trained mercenaries arrived in the capital to bolster its defenses.

The South Vietnamese reported no contact with the enemy, and a Cambodian military spokesman here said the only significant actions reported in the country were probes against government positions at Siem Reap, in the northwest, and a mortar attack on Neak Luong, the Mekong River ferry crossing 35 miles southeast of Phnom Penh where the South Vietnamese have located a big new logistics base.

The mortar attack killed three civilians and wounded six, but there were neither casualties nor damage at the new base, the spokesman said.

Informants in Saigon said the South Vietnamese task force operating north of Phnom Penh was made up of nearly a full brigade of some 2,500 marines and about the same number of infantrymen supported by armored cavalry. Officials in Phnom Penh said the operation launched earlier this weekend led to the collapse of enemy pressure in areas just beyond the capital.

The mercenaries are Cambodians living in South Vietnam who were trained by U.S. Green Berets. They arrived in Phnom Penh in a 40-truck convoy, joining more than 4,000 like them who are charged primarily with (Continued on Page 2)

Senate Approves Postal Reform; Conference Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate agreed today to fatten every mailman's wallet and create an independent agency to take over operation of the ancient and deficit-plagued Post Office Department.

The postal reform bill, passed 76 to 10 in a post-midnight vote, now goes to a conference committee to resolve differences with a similar bill previously passed by the House.

A U.S. Postal Service would replace the present Cabinet-level Post Office Department under the sweeping reorganization plan that, in its broad outlines, carries out recommendations of President Nixon.

Postal workers also will receive an 8 per cent pay raise.

The new agency, run by a board of governors appointed by the President and subject to Senate confirmation, would have control over postal rates, negotiate pay scales with employee unions, and could issue up to $10 billion in bonds for modernization of post offices and equipment.

The Senate bill, unlike the House bill, would not give Congress a veto over increases in postal rates.

The 8 per cent pay raise, initially costing $645 million, is part of an agreement worked out by Postmaster General Winston M. Blount last April to end a strike by postal workers.

It is on top of a 6 per cent pay increase for all federal employees voted by Congress earlier in the year. The Senate adopted, 73 to 14, an amendment by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to make it retroactive to April 16 as in the House bill.

Blount's agreement with the postal unions also provided they could negotiate for union shop agreements—a form of compulsory unionism—subject to state right-to-work laws.

The House refused to include such a provision in its bill, and the issue stirred a major dispute in the Senate.

An amendment by Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., providing that postal employees should have the right to join or refrain from joining a union, was defeated by voice vote.

Earlier, on a test vote forced by Javits, the Senate had upheld 52 to 38 authority for the new postal service to negotiate closed shop agreements.

Crime Bill Heads For Senate OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration-backed bill to authorize $3.2 billion for state and local law enforcement headed today for expected passage in the Senate after the House approved it 342-2.

One-quarter of the funds—which would be spread over three years—would go to improve jails and prisons.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has called the bill the administration's major program to reduce lawlessness, although the expanding program was begun in the previous administration.

The bill, which the House passed Tuesday, would authorize $650 million for the fiscal year starting today, $1 billion for fiscal 1972, and $1.5 billion for 1973. Actual appropriations might be less.

Local agencies would have to put up some of their own money to qualify for federal grants, and states must put up 25 per cent of the local share.

State governments—often criticized as favoring rural areas over cities—will distribute the funds, but must allocate "adequate" money to high-crime cities.

Grape Group To Negotiate With Union

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California table grape growers who have withstood a five-year worldwide boycott by organized labor are ready to deal with unions, spokesmen say.

The spokesmen outlined their position at a news conference Tuesday at which they supported Gov. Ronald Reagan's recent call for mediation in the labor dispute. They said they represented more than 50 per cent of the state's table grape growers.

The growers said they were moving to avert disaster to the San Joaquin Valley harvest, due to begin in 10 days, which represents nearly 90 per cent of the nation's table grapes.

The growers conceded they are being badly squeezed by the table grape boycott pushed by the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, headed by Cesar Chavez.

The growers called for a moratorium on the boycott while the workers are conducting union elections and rules for negotiating are being set up. They called for cooperation from the union and the Roman Catholic Church bishops who have supported organizing among the 70,000 grape pickers in the state.

Chavez and union sources wouldn't comment, saying they wanted to study the proposals further.

Israel Says Loss Of 2 Jets Likely Due To Red Missiles

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel admitted the loss of two of its warplanes in bombing raids Tuesday along the Suez Canal, and a senior army officer said Russian SAM2 missiles probably brought them down.

The Jerusalem Post said the planes might have been downed by the more advanced SAM3 missiles the Soviets have in Egypt, but the Israeli officer said the Egyptians fired a "rash" of SAM2s during the raid.

The officer said the SAM2 sites are generally manned by Egyptians with Soviet advisers. SAM3s are deployed in the Nile Valley, but there have been no reports to date of any in the canal zone, presumably because they are manned by Soviet crews and the Russians don't want to expose their men to Israeli attack.

Israeli pilots have reported seeing sites for SAM2's under construction along the Egyptian side of the canal, and these sites are one of the main objectives in the round-the-clock bombing raids now being carried out by Israel against Egypt's canal defenses.

This was the first time Israel has admitted losing any planes over Egypt since June 1, when the constant bombing raids began. The officer said the only other Israeli plane brought down by a SAM2 was a Piper Cub spotted downed in March 1969 as it flew over the Israeli side of the canal.

No Israeli planes have been reported downed by SAM3s.

Nixon Sets TV Discussion With Network Reporters

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon, following up a written report to the nation on U.S. military operations in Cambodia, may disclose tonight whether he plans to name a new chief peace negotiator in Paris.

Nixon will answer an hour of questions starting at 10 p.m. EDT from one representative of each of the three major television-radio networks on foreign affairs topics.

It was evident in advance that Nixon would be asked about nomination of a successor to former negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge, who resigned last December.

The President said Tuesday that "we shall renew our efforts to bring about genuine negotiations both in Paris and for all of Indochina."

A White House official, declining to be identified, briefed newsmen at the Western White House in San Clemente after Nixon's statement was made public. The aide said the question of a new peace negotiator naturally would be a part of any review of approaches to negotiations.

Nixon flew to Los Angeles Tuesday evening to prepare for his TV-radio appearance. Staying at the Century Plaza Hotel, with only a handful of aides accompanying him, Nixon was said to be reading and gathering his thoughts for the session with the questioners.

Interviewers are Howard K. Smith of ABC, Eric Sevareid of CBS and John Chancellor of NBC.

Although John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, while occupying the White House, held similar conversations with broadcasters, they were filmed in advance and subjected to editing. Nixon will be the first president to make a live appearance on a network special of this type.

Rogers Arrives At SEATO Meet

MANILA (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers arrived in Manila today for a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and said self-reliance has become the keynote for the area's nations—including those beset by war in Indochina.

"Asians are seeking through self-help and regional cooperation to apply Asian solutions to Asian problems," said Rogers in an airport statement.

"We are glad to see Asian members of SEATO in the forefront of this important development," he added, referring to the Philippines, Thailand, and Pakistan.

Lifeguard Saves Youth At Gold Cliff

The alertness of a lifeguard at Gold Cliff Park Swimming Pool was responsible for saving the life of Kevin Leist, 6, 323 S. Washington St. Tuesday.

Jim Kibby, Route 3, had cleared the pool about 4:40 p.m. for a routine check when he noticed the youngster lying face down in the water.

Kibby quickly removed the unconscious lad and applied mouth to mouth resuscitation. The boy began to respond and regained consciousness through the efforts of Kibby.

Young Leist was taken to Berger Hospital, where he received further treatment and was released.

Leist is the son of Mr. Donald R. Leist, 19 Long St., and Mrs. Joy Leist, 323 S. Washington St.

Kibby is an instrumental music teacher in the Westfall school district and is working as a lifeguard during the summer.

Skyjacker Forces Jet To Havana

MIAMI (AP) — A San Francisco to Miami National Airlines jet was diverted to Cuba today with 39 persons aboard, including two crew members who are veterans of forced flights to Havana.

Details of the apparent hijacking were sketchy, said a National spokesman.

"Eleven minutes after takeoff from New Orleans the pilot radioed: 'On way to Havana. Request Havana weather,'" the spokesman said.

The pilot's report came at 9:26 a.m. EDT. A safe landing at Havana's Jose Marti International Airport was reported shortly after 11 a.m.

The National spokesman said Flight No. 28 carried 32 passengers and a crew of seven.

The flight originated in San Francisco with stops at Las Vegas and Houston before New Orleans. The plane was apparently hijacked over the Gulf of Mexico as it headed for a scheduled stop at Tampa.

The airline spokesman said both the pilot, Capt. Carl Greenwood, and Flight Engineer C. J. Vile had made the trip to Cuba before on hijacked flights.

Greenwood was acting as a check pilot aboard a flight that was diverted to Cuba March 5, 1969. Vile was engineer on a craft commandeered and forced to Havana in 1968.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A 5-year-old Dayton boy, Mylan Lewis, was killed Tuesday night when struck by a car on the city's West Side. The driver was not held, police reported.

June Rainfall Sets Record

The amount of rain that fell during the month of June established a new record for the city of Circleville.

Measurable precipitation fell on 11 days of the month for a total of 6.65 inches. The previous record was set in 1945 when rainfall for the month totaled 6.41 inches.

Over an inch of rain fell on three days of the month as heavy thundershowers lashed the area. The most recent was June 26. Nearly one and one-half inches of rain drenched the area in alternate afternoon and evening storm showers.

June's highest temperature was 94 degrees recorded Tuesday. The reading established no record but was warmer than high temperatures recorded in June, 1969.

Low temperature for the month was a cool 47 degrees June 19.

The current weather forecast is for possible isolated thundershowers to touch down in the area within the next two-day period.

High temperatures and humidity are expected to remain, for the present.

2 Are Killed As Car Hits Tire

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland man and his wife died early today when their automobile crashed off Interstate 71 near here after striking a truck tire in the roadway.

Those killed were Mrs. Sarah Weaver, 32, who was driving the auto, and her husband, Bobby J. Weaver, 37. The accident happened just east of Mansfield north of the U.S. 30 interchange.

Their two sons, Dexter, 13, and Kevin, 8 who were riding in the rear seat of the car, escaped with minor injuries.

New System Used To Mix Dual Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men born on July 9, 1951, will be the first called for the draft in 1971, under a national lottery conducted today.

That date and low number were the 11th set to be matched in the lottery drawing, assigning numbers and dates in a scrambled sequence.

The first drawing of the lottery assigned No. 139 to Sept. 16.

As the drawing continued No. 235 was assigned to April 27; then No. 185 to Jan. 13; No. 5 to Oct. 21; and No. 134 to Oct. 5.

The lottery is to assign numbers from one to 365, each to one date of the year, corresponding to the birthday of men born in 1951.

The selections were made by the drawing of capsules from two plexiglass drums, rotated between each call.

Men called for military service next year will come primarily from this new group of 19-year-olds. The first draftees will be those with the lowest numbers. Draft boards will go as high as necessary to fill the Pentagon's manpower needs.

Draft calls have been falling with the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Southeast Asia. Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird predicted Tuesday night substantial further draft reductions because of what he characterized as the success of the two-month U.S. raid into Cambodia.

Men who have already received draft sequence numbers in a similar lottery last December were not affected by today's drawing. They keep their December numbers permanently.

Each year, a new group of men becomes the prime draft pool—the first from which draftees are selected by lottery number.

If a man gets through his prime draft year in 1-A "available" status without being drafted, he cannot be inducted in following years unless the prime groups that follow are completely called.

Each man remains subject to the draft until he reaches age 26. But each year he steps down automatically into a progressively less vulnerable category.

If a man is deferred or exempt, however, during his group's prime year, he must face a prime year of his own if and when he becomes 1-A taking his place in line with his original lottery number.

Last December's lottery was followed by charges from some mathematicians that the dates one-two-three order, were insufficiently mixed. It was alleged that the result was biased against men with birthdays late in the year.

To avoid any such doubts this time, Selective Service officials took careful precautions to scramble both dates and numbers separately.

They stuffed the dates into red plastic capsules on Monday, in a scrambled sequence dictated by a random table created by a computer and available in a standard textbook. The sequence itself was picked at random from 25 choices.

Numbers from one to 365 were stuffed into green capsules by the same procedure using an other random table.

Then the red and green capsules were placed into separate plexiglass drums according to still a third random table.

Office Rentals Cost $3.4 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state spent nearly $3.4 million to rent office space for essential services in 1970, according to a report issued today by the office of State Auditor Roger Cloud.

The report cited the expenditure to point up "constantly increasing need" for new state office facilities, particularly in the Columbus area and elsewhere various state agencies are currently occupying rental quarters.

The report said the total results paid Columbus-leased properties this year amounted to $1,440,163 or 42.4 per cent of the statewide expenditure of $3,390,066. Cleveland rentals totaled $457,503, and Cincinnati $190,078.

Senate Votes To Curb U.S. War-Making

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war senators have rebuked President Nixon for sending troops into Cambodia with a surprisingly large vote to curtail future U.S. troop operations in the Southeast Asian nation.

By a 58-37 vote, the Senate approved the controversial Cooper-Church amendment Tuesday following eight weeks of heated debate. The measure, however, faces another long fight and possible modification when conferees seek to resolve differences between the versions passed by the House and Senate.

At the Western White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President didn't consider the action a rebuff.

"I think the Senate has clearly recognized the constitutional power and responsibility of the commander-in-chief," he said. On the other hand, the White House had maintained constant opposition to the amendment, sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

The vote came several hours after Nixon termed the Cambodian incursion a success, officially announced all U.S. elements had been withdrawn and vowed to make new efforts for a negotiated peace settlement for all of Indochina.

He said in a written statement from the California White House the attack would save American and allied lives in the future and assure the orderly withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam.

At least two more debates over U.S. policy in Southeast Asia are expected in the Senate in coming weeks. One will come on a resolution to repeal the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, even though such action was included in the Cooper-Church amendment.

The second will come when a bipartisan team of senators headed by Democrat George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Republican Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon try to amend the upcoming military procurement bill with their "Amendment to End the War" by requiring withdrawal of all American forces from Indochina by next July 1.

It is considered much more drastic—and its chances for passage considerably less—than the Cooper-Church measure, which limits funds for U.S. activities in Cambodia.

In Moscow, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser continued his talks with Kremlin leaders. It is the third day of his visit to the Soviet capital.

former negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge, who resigned last December.

The President said Tuesday that "we shall renew our efforts to bring about genuine negotiations both in Paris and for all of Indochina."

A White House official, declining to be identified, briefed newsmen at the Western White House in San Clemente after Nixon's statement was made public. The aide said the question of a new peace negotiator naturally would be a part of any review of approaches to negotiations.

Nixon flew to Los Angeles Tuesday evening to prepare for his TV-radio appearance. Staying at the Century Plaza Hotel, with only a handful of aides accompanying him, Nixon was said to be reading and gathering his thoughts for the session with the questioners.

Interviewers are Howard K. Smith of ABC, Eric Sevareid of CBS and John Chancellor of NBC.

Although John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, while occupying the White House, had similar conversations with broadcasters, they were filmed in advance and subjected to editing. Nixon will be the first president to make a live appearance on a network special of this type.

Rogers Arrives

At SEATO Meet

MANILA (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers arrived in Manila today for a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and said self-reliance has become the keynote for the area's nations—including those beset by war in Indochina.

"Asians are seeking through self-help and regional cooperation to apply Asian solutions to Asian problems," said Rogers in an airport statement.

"We are glad to see Asian members of SEATO in the forefront of this important development," he added, referring to the Philippines, Thailand, and Pakistan.

Lifeguard Saves Youth At Gold Cliff

The alertness of a lifeguard at Gold Cliff Park Swimming Pool was responsible for saving the life of Kevin Leist, 6, 329 S. Washington St. Tuesday.

Jim Kibby, Route 3, had cleared the pool about 4:40 p.m. for a routine check when he noticed the youngster lying facedown in the water.

Kibby quickly removed the unconscious lad and applied mouth to mouth resuscitation. The boy began to respond and regained consciousness through the efforts of Kibby.

Young Leist was taken to Berger Hospital, where he received further treatment and was released.

Leist is the son of Mr. Donald R. Leist, 19 Long St., and Mrs. Joy Leist, 329 S. Washington St.

Kibby is an instrumental music teacher in the Westfall school district and is working as a lifeguard during the summer.

Skyjacker Forces Jet To Havana

MIAMI (AP) — A San Francisco to Miami National Airlines jet was diverted to Cuba today with 39 persons aboard, including two crew members who are veterans of forced flights to Havana.

Details of the apparent hijacking were sketchy, said a National spokesman.

"Eleven minutes after takeoff from New Orleans the pilot radioed: 'On way to Havana. Request Havana weather,'" the spokesman said.

The pilot's report came at 9:26 a.m. EDT. A safe landing at Havana's Jose Marti International Airport was reported shortly after 11 a.m.

The National spokesman said Flight No. 28 carried 32 passengers and a crew of seven.

The flight originated in San Francisco with stops at Las Vegas and Houston before New Orleans. The plane was apparently hijacked over the Gulf of Mexico as it headed for a scheduled stop at Tampa.

The airline spokesman said both the pilot, Capt. Carl Greenwood, and Flight Engineer C. J. Vile had made the trip to Cuba before on hijacked flights.

Greenwood was acting as a check pilot aboard a flight that was diverted to Cuba March 5, 1969. Vile was engineer on a craft commandeered and forced to Havana in 1968.

New System Used To Mix Dual Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men born on July 9, 1951, will be the first called for the draft in 1971, under a national lottery conducted today.

That date and low number were the 11th set to be matched in the lottery drawing, assigning numbers and dates in a scrambled sequence.

The first drawing of the lottery assigned No. 139 to Sept. 16.

As the drawing continued No. 235 was assigned to April 27; then No. 185 to Jan. 13; No. 5 to Oct. 21; and No. 134 to Oct. 5.

The lottery is to assign numbers from one to 365, each to one date of the year, corresponding to the birthday of men born in 1951.

The selections were made by the drawing of capsules from two plexiglass drums, rotated between each call.

Men called for military service next year will come primarily from this new group of 19-year-olds. The first draftees will be those with the lowest numbers. Draft boards will go as high as necessary to fill the Pentagon's manpower needs.

Draft calls have been falling with the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Southeast Asia. Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird predicted Tuesday night substantial further draft reductions because of what he characterized as the success of the two-month U.S. raid into Cambodia.

Men who have already received draft sequence numbers in a similar lottery last December were not affected by today's drawing. They keep their December numbers permanently.

Each year, a new group of men becomes the prime draft pool—the first from which draftees are selected by lottery number.

If a man gets through his prime draft year in a "available" status without being drafted, he cannot be inducted in following years unless the prime groups that follow are completely called.

Each man remains subject to the draft until he reaches age 26. But each year he steps down automatically into a progressively less vulnerable category.

If a man is deferred or exempt, however, during his group's prime year, he must face a prime year of his own if and when he becomes 1-A taking his place in line with his original lottery number.

Last December's lottery was followed by charges from some mathematicians that the dates one-two-three order were insufficiently mixed. It was alleged that the result was biased against men with birthdays late in the year.

To avoid any such doubts this time, Selective Service officials took careful precautions to scramble both dates and numbers separately.

They stuffed the dates into red plastic capsules on Monday, in a scrambled sequence dictated by a random table created by a computer and available in a standard textbook. The sequence itself was picked at random from 25 choices.

Numbers from one to 365 were stuffed into green capsules by the same procedure using an other random table.

Then the red and green capsules were placed into separate plexiglass drums according to still a third random table.

Office Rentals

Cost $3.4 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state spent nearly $3.4 million to rent office space for essential services in 1970, according to a report issued today by the office of State Auditor Roger Cloud.

The report cited the expenditure to point up "constantly increasing need" for new state office facilities, particularly in the Columbus area and elsewhere where various state agencies are currently occupying rental quarters.

The report said the total rentals paid Columbus-leased properties this year amounted to $1,440,163 or 42.4 per cent of the statewide expenditure of $3,390,065. Cleveland rentals totaled $457,503, and Cincinnati $190,078.

June Rainfall Sets Record

The amount of rain that fell during the month of June established a new record for the city of Circleville.

Measurable precipitation fell on 11 days of the month for a total of 6.65 inches. The previous record was set in 1946 when rainfall for the month totaled 6.41 inches.

Over an inch of rain fell on three days of the month as heavy thundershowers lashed the area. The most recent was June 26. Nearly one and one-half inches of rain drenched the area in alternate afternoon and evening storm showers.

June's highest temperature was 94 degrees recorded Tuesday. The reading established no record but was warmer than high temperatures recorded in June, 1969.

LOW temperature for the month was a cool 47 degrees June 19.

The current weather forecast is for possible isolated thundershowers to touch down in the area within the next two-day period.

High temperatures and humidity are expected to remain, for the present.

2 Are Killed

As Car Hits Tire

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland man and his wife died early today when their automobile crashed off Interstate 71 near here after striking a truck tire in the roadway.

Those killed were Mrs. Sarah Weaver, 32, who was driving the auto, and her husband, Bobby J. Weaver, 37. The accident happened just east of Mansfield north of the U.S. 30 interchange.

Their two sons, Dexter, 13, and Kevin, 8 who were riding in the rear seat of the car, escaped with minor injuries.

Mrs. Nixon reported the earthquake disaster was of a magnitude she could scarcely believe—"just whole valleys destroyed."

She told reporters flying home with her she was horrified at the thought of "all those people there with loved ones still buried under the rubble. It would be a horrible sensation to be there walking over the ground."

The three-day trip also launched a warm relationship with Peru's first lady, Consuelo Velasco, who was Mrs. Nixon's traveling companion and heads the Peru National Volunteer Relief Organization.

Senate . . .

barred by an amendment passed last year to the defense appropriations bill.

After the approval of Cooper-Church, the Senate voted 75 to 20 to pass the military sales bill which had served as the vehicle for the debate. The measure restricts the program under which surplus U.S. military equipment is sold to foreign countries at bargain rates.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and likely head of his houses conferees, said, "I don't think we'll be in any hurry to go to conference. But eventually we will have to have a military sales bill."

Sen. Church, cosponsor of the amendment and a likely Senate conferee, said he is opposed to the military sales bill unless his proposal is retained.

The passage of Cooper-Church on the last day of the current U.S. operation in Cambodia reflected the view of the majority of senators that Nixon should have consulted with Congress before undertaking the venture and should do so in the future, except in the case of extreme emergency requiring immediate action.

Antiwar senators launched the drive to show their displeasure soon after Nixon announced the Cambodian operation.

The amendment, which sponsors said retains its substance despite five changes during the weeks of debate, bars funds starting today for retaining U.S. forces in Cambodia, for advisers, for paying mercenaries from other Asian nations and for air strikes in support of Cambodian forces.

An amendment by Sen. Harry M. Jackson, D-Wash., adopted 69 to 27 just before the final vote, permits air strikes in support of South Vietnamese and Thai forces.

Moments earlier, the Nixon administration lost by 59 to 45 an effort to amend Cooper-Church to permit financial support of troops and advisers from other Asian nations, especially Thailand.

Senate action came just five days after the House voted 279 to 98 to re-pass the measure authorizing further construction under the Hill-Burton Act.

Sixty-seven Republicans joined 212 Democrats in that override, 27 more than the required two-thirds of those voting.

The Senate cleared the required two-thirds margin by 12 votes without a single Democrat lining up for Nixon, even though the Southern wing of the party generally has backed the President. Twenty-three Republicans, including GOP Leader Hugh Scott, joined 53 Democrats in the Senate override.

The Nixon administration has been trying to phase out the Hill-Burton program of direct grants and replace it with a program of guaranteed loans.

But the bill Congress has enacted over Nixon's opposition authorizes $1.26 billion in grants over the next three years, some $350 over budget requests.

It does include a provision for $1.5 billion in guaranteed loans but for the first time it requires the President to spend the grant money.

This prevents him from just ignoring it, which past chief executives had done.

When he vetoed the bill last week, Nixon said the measure is "a long step down the road of fiscal irresponsibility and we should not take that road."

He called on the Democratic-controlled Congress in his veto message to "join me" in holding down federal spending.

Local Masons

Get Honorary Recognition

Donald James Moss of Route 1, Kingston and James Wendell Krinn of 912 Lincoln Drive, have been awarded the designation of Knight of the Cross of Honour it was reported today.

This honorary degree, highest in the York Rite of Freemasonry, is conferred on those who have held the highest office in each of the four bodies of the rite.

Krinn and Moss became two of the comparative handful of about 400 over four and a quarter million Freemasons in North America and the Philippines to qualify this year.

Krinn served as master of Circleville Lodge of Masons in 1962; high priest of Circleville Chapter, Royal Arch Masons in 1965; master of Tyrian Council, Royal and Selected Masters, in 1968; commander of Scioto Commandery, Knight Templar, in 1965.

Moss served as master of Adelphi Lodge of Masons in 1961; high priest of Circleville Chapter, Royal Arch Masons in 1962; master of Tyrian Council, Royal and Selected Masters, in 1965; commander of Scioto Commandery, Knight Templar, in 1968.

They were elected to membership in Ohio Priory and the election was confirmed by the Grand Lodge of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Krinn is also active in the Order of DeMolay for boys and is currently serving as district governor of the state body.

U.S. Nazis Claim Antiwar Senators Should Be Shot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Nazi party says antiwar senators are traitors who "need a bullet right between the eyes."

Listing Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D., J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., as the vanguard of treason, the party—officially the "National Socialist White People's Party"—said they should all be shot.

"McGovern, Fulbright, Hatfield, the whole rotten bunch, need a bullet right between the eyes," the party said in a recorded "white power message" from its headquarters in Arlington, Va.

Spokesmen for the three senators singled out said they had no public comment.

The telephone message surfaced late Tuesday night when Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, read a transcript of it on the Senate floor.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said the Justice Department had been informed and was acting, but spokesmen for the agency and the FBI said early today they were not aware of the matter.

Ashville Man Found Dead In Field

An 85-year-old Ashville farmer was found dead in a field near his home at 8:53 p.m. Tuesday.

Michael M. Decker had been the object of a search when he failed to arrive at his nephew's house for dinner.

The nephew, Harold V. Decker of Ashville, told Pickaway County Sheriff's Department he had seen his uncle about 10:30 Tuesday morning and when he failed to come to dinner at 4 p.m. they began to look for him.

He was found in a field by Jeffery McCray who was a neighbor of his.

According to Pickaway County Coroner's report, death was due to natural causes.

Born March 31, 1885 in Pickaway County, he was the son of John and Kathryn Miller Decker.

He resided with nieces and nephews, Frances, Kathryn and Harold Decker. Other survivors include nieces and nephews, Helen Fagin, Groveport; Margaret Smith, North Carolina; Curtis W. Decker, Grove City and John F. Decker, Columbus.

Services will be 10:30 a.m. Friday in the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville with Rev. Paul Beighley officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery, Circleville.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m. Thursday.

Three Report For Induction

Three Pickaway County registrants were inducted into the Armed Forces June 24 at Ft. Hayes Induction Center, Columbus, through the Selective Service System. All will serve with the U.S. Army.

The inductees are Edgen Bills, 105 Fairview Ave.; Michael Fuller, 1024 S. Court St.; and Charles McClarren, 119 1/2 E. Main St.

Red Cross Volunteers served coffee and doughnuts, donated by Lindsey's Bakery, to the registrants prior to their departure from Circleville. Each man was also given a gift packet presented by Sertoma Club and Red Cross.

The July induction call in the county is five, through draft lottery number 190.

Veto Override Pleases Candidate

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "Congress has recognized the need for new priorities in America," Democratic Senatorial nominee Howard M. Metzger said in praising the Senate's action Tuesday in overriding President Nixon's veto of the Hospital Construction Aid Bill.

He said the Senate's vote on the hospital bill and its vote to deny President Nixon funds for more combat operations in Cambodia indicates Congress is "now more concerned with construction at home as opposed to destruction abroad."

"Today's override, by one of the largest margins in history, was a rebuff to the Nixon Administration's apparent lack of concern for the health and welfare of the American people," Metzger said of the vote on the bill to provide $2.7 billion in new hospital construction.

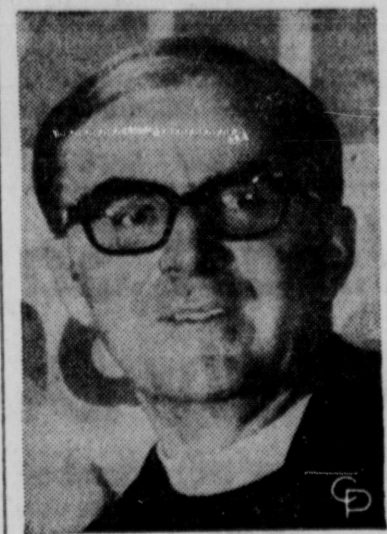

In the message, still being played early today, a man identifying himself as Dr. William Pierce said President Nixon had withdrawn U.S. troops from Cambodia "before they had a chance to do the job they were sent there to do."

A Dr. William Pierce has acted as party spokesman and "ideological officer" for more than a year.

The speaker said military men had urged more time, "but the reds in our own Senate were squawking so loudly that Mr. Nixon, always the compromiser, agreed to pull our men out."

He said the only way to win a war was to press for decisive military advantage, but that Nixon was not doing that in the Indochina war.

"When it's all over, 50,000 young Americans will have been

Stock Prices Turn Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were mixed today in very slow trading.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 0.34 at 683.87.

Losers held a small lead over advances among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said both professional traders and the investing public were showing little interest in buying or selling.

Some brokers note that the market has been holding generally in the area of the previous support level around 680 for the past two sessions and is staying there today. They suggest that the market could be in the process of forming a base from which it could advance later.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off .2 at 225.6, with industrials down .7, rails off .2 and utilities up .6.

Moscow Blasts Nixon Statement

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass charged today that President Nixon's statement on the withdrawal of American troops from Cambodia "by no means the United States will abandon armed interference in Cambodia."

"The President made it clear the United States actually intends to expand the intervention, encouraging Asian countries to direct participation in the intervention," said the Soviet news agency. "According to Nixon's words, the United States will give help to joint military efforts of Southeast Asian countries in Cambodia."

Church Plans District Assemblies

B. J. Lemaster, presiding minister of the Circleville congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced that the local Witnesses have been invited to attend the "Men of Goodwill" District Assemblies to be held in 46 cities throughout the United States and Canada this month through August. He stated that some 400,000 delegates will be attending the conventions from all 50 states and that the four-day program will be oriented to benefit parents and young people. There will be dramas presented with Biblical and modern settings as well as symposiums.

A featured speaker at many of the conventions will be Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, the representative agency for Jehovah's Witnesses in 203 lands. Many of the local Witnesses will be attending the closer conventions in Pittsburgh, Pa., Jersey City, N. J., Hampton, Va., Laurel, Md., Wilmington, Del., and Detroit, Mich.

All sessions will be free and as always, no collections taken.

Poor Reading Rapped By NEA

1 In 4 Students Have Deficiencies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A report to be distributed to the 108th annual convention of the National Education Association this week discloses that one of four students nationwide have reading deficiencies.

Prepared by the National School Public Relations Association, an NEA affiliate, the report also states that there are more than three million illiterates in the adult population and that half the unemployed between 16 and 21 years old are functionally illiterate.

The report says large numbers of elementary school teachers have never been taught to teach reading effectively.

It adds that most high school teachers have never had a course in reading although they are confronted daily with students with reading deficiencies.

The report urges more individualized classroom instruction, remedial classes and home tutoring.

The NEA convention, which runs until July 6, focused today on the Association of Classroom Teachers, an organization within the NEA composed of 900,000 classroom teachers.

The main NEA Representative Assembly, with 7,000 delegates participating, gets under way Friday morning. It may be faced with a touchy racial problem involving the predominantly white North Carolina Education Association and the predominantly black North Carolina Teachers Association.

The white group said it plans to become a racially unified organization. Leaders of the Negro group insist they will not merge unless certain conditions are met and will seek to be seated as the official delegates.

Earlier this year two white state NEA affiliates, in Louisiana and Mississippi, were expelled for failure to merge racially separated NEA affiliates.

Scout Troop 52, Post 2052 Attend Camp

Boy Scouts from Troop 52 and Explorers from Post 2052, both sponsored by the Methodist Church, participated in weeklong activities at Greenhill's Scout Reservation, Logan.

The post participated in a "high adventure" week at Camp Buckeye which included a two-day canoe trip down the Hocking River and a day long mini-bike trip over various parts of the reservation.

At Camp Longhorn, the troop participated in canoeing, rowing and hiking and two swim periods. The boys also were active in advancement during the week.

Ammer Decides

Adams County

School Case

Judge William Ammer, presiding judge of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, was absent Tuesday, hearing a case involving a school consolidation in Adams County.

Ammer was appointed to the case in West Union involving a county wide consolidation of five school districts in December. The issue had been before the voters in November and had failed. The county boards of education decided to consolidate the following month and submit the issue to the voters in May, when it passed by a narrow margin.

Judge Ammer dismissed the action against the consolidation following several days of testimony last week. Following his decision the new school district legally became effective as of June 30.

ON STEAMING TOUR — The Flying Scotsman, first steam locomotive to speed at 100 miles an hour (1934), pulls into McAlester, Okla., on the first leg of its museum-tour from Slaton, Tex., to Green Bay, Wis. British businessman Alan Pegler saved the Scotsman from a junk heap, restored it and outfitted it with historical displays.

Congress Overrides Veto Of Hill-Burton Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has overridden a presidential veto of a politically popular $2.76 billion hospital construction bill, adding new fuel to the election year debate over inflation.

Mrs. Nixon's his wife home, said her journey had been "in effect, people speaking to people, despite differences between governments" and "we should have more of it."

Mrs. Nixon reported the earthquake disaster was of a magnitude she could scarcely believe—"just whole valleys destroyed."

She told reporters flying home with her she was horrified at the thought of "all those people there with loved ones still buried under the rubble. It would be a horrible sensation to be there walking over the ground."

The three-day trip also launched a warm relationship with Peru's first lady, Consuelo Velasco, who was Mrs. Nixon's traveling companion and heads the Peru National Volunteer Relief Organization.

Senate . . .

barred by an amendment passed last year to the defense appropriations bill.

After the approval of Cooper-Church, the Senate voted 75 to 20 to pass the military sales bill which had served as the vehicle for the debate. The measure restricts the program under which surplus U.S. military equipment is sold to foreign countries at bargain rates.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and likely head of his houses conferees, said, "I don't think we'll be in any hurry to go to conference. But eventually we will have to have a military sales bill."

Sen. Church, cosponsor of the amendment and a likely Senate conferee, said he is opposed to the military sales bill unless his proposal is retained.

The passage of Cooper-Church on the last day of the current U.S. operation in Cambodia reflected the view of the majority of senators that Nixon should have consulted with Congress before undertaking the venture and should do so in the future, except in the case of extreme emergency requiring immediate action.

Antiwar senators launched the drive to show their displeasure soon after Nixon announced the Cambodian operation.

The amendment, which sponsors said retains its substance despite five changes during the weeks of debate, bars funds starting today for retaining U.S. forces in Cambodia, for advisers, for paying mercenaries from other Asian nations and for air strikes in support of Cambodian forces.

An amendment by Sen. Harry M. Jackson, D-Wash., adopted 69 to 27 just before the final vote, permits air strikes in support of South Vietnamese and Thai forces.

Moments earlier, the Nixon administration lost by 59 to 45 an effort to amend Cooper-Church to permit financial support of troops and advisers from other Asian nations, especially Thailand.

Two Charged For Following Too Closely

Route 23 was the scene of two accidents Tuesday evening investigated by the Highway Patrol. Both were caused when the drivers failed to keep a safe stopping distance between their auto and the one ahead.

Carl D. Wellman, a 23-year-old Chillicothe man, was cited for assured clear distance following a collision at 5 p.m. just north of Route 22 which severely damaged his auto and a car driven by Ralph Roby. Roby, 58, of 557 E. Main St., complained of minor injuries. Damage to the front of Wellman's car was listed as severe, estimated at $800. Repairs to the rear of the Roby vehicle were set at approximately $600.

No one was injured in another collision at 6:20 p.m. at the intersection of North St. and Route 23 in South Bloomfield yesterday.

A 19-year-old Ashville woman, Gail Curry, had stopped to make a left turn onto North St. when she was struck in the rear by a car driven by Charles A. Kornzenborn, 61, of Columbus. Damage estimates showed $300 to the left rear of Mrs. Cutto's auto and $500 to the Kornzenborn car.

Rates are available by the night, week and month.

U.S. Nazis Claim Antiwar Senators Should Be Shot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Nazi party says antiwar senators are traitors who "need a bullet right between the eyes."

Listing Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D., J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., as the vanguard of treason, the party—officially the "National Socialist White People's Party"—said they should all be shot.

"McGovern, Fulbright, Hatfield, the whole rotten bunch, need a bullet right between the eyes," the party said in a recorded "white power message" from its headquarters in Arlington, Va.

Spokesmen for the three senators singled out said they had no public comment.

The telephone message surfaced late Tuesday night when Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, read a transcript of it on the Senate floor.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said the Justice Department had been informed and was acting, but spokesmen for the agency and the FBI said early today they were not aware of the matter.

Ashville Man Found Dead In Field

An 85-year-old Ashville farmer was found dead in a field near his home at 8:53 p.m. Tuesday.

Michael M. Decker had been the object of a search when he failed to arrive at his nephew's house for dinner.

The nephew, Harold V. Decker of Ashville, told Pickaway County Sheriff's Department he had seen his uncle about 10:30 Tuesday morning and when he failed to come to dinner at 4 p.m. they began to look for him.

He was found in a field by Jeffery McCray who was a neighbor of his.

According to Pickaway County Coroner's report, death was due to natural causes.

Born March 31, 1885 in Pickaway County, he was the son of John and Kathryn Miller Decker.

He resided with nieces and nephews, Frances, Kathryn and Harold Decker. Other survivors include nieces and nephews, Helen Fagin, Groveport; Margaret Smith, North Carolina; Curtis W. Decker, Grove City and John F. Decker, Columbus.

Services will be 10:30 a.m. Friday in the Bastian Funeral Home, Ashville with Rev. Paul Beighley officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery, Circleville.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m. Thursday.

Three Report For Induction

Three Pickaway County registrants were inducted into the Armed Forces June 24 at Ft. Hayes Induction Center, Columbus, through the Selective Service System. All will serve with the U.S. Army.

The inductees are Edgen Bills, 105 Fairview Ave.; Michael Fuller, 1024 S. Court St.; and Charles McClarren, 119 1/2 E. Main St.

Red Cross Volunteers served coffee and doughnuts, donated by Lindsey's Bakery, to the registrants prior to their departure from Circleville. Each man was also given a gift packet presented by Sertoma Club and Red Cross.

The July induction call in the county is five, through draft lottery number 190.

Veto Override Pleases Candidate

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "Congress has recognized the need for new priorities in America," Democratic Senatorial nominee Howard M. Metzbaum said in praising the Senate's action Tuesday in overriding President Nixon's veto of the Hospital Construction Aid Bill.

He said the Senate's vote on the hospital bill and its vote to deny President Nixon funds for more combat operations in Cambodia indicates Congress is "now more concerned with construction at home as opposed to destruction abroad."

"Today's override, by one of the largest margins in history, was a rebuff to the Nixon Administration's apparent lack of concern for the health and welfare of the American people," Metzbaum said of the vote on the bill to provide $2.7 billion in new hospital construction.

In the message, still being played early today, a man identifying himself as Dr. William Pierce said President Nixon had withdrawn U.S. troops from Cambodia "before they had a chance to do the job they were sent there to do."

A Dr. William Pierce has acted as party spokesman and "ideological officer" for more than a year.

The speaker said military men had urged more time, "but the reds in our own Senate were squawking so loudly that Mr. Nixon, always the compromiser, agreed to pull our men out."

He said the only way to win a war was to press for decisive military advantage, but that Nixon was not doing that in the Indochina war.

"When it's all over, 50,000 young Americans will have been killed for nothing. For nothing because we won't have really settled anything."

"We really won't have won a war, and the reason, in addition to Mr. Nixon's complete lack of spine, the reason will be treason, and just as there's only one way to win a war, there's only one way to deal with a traitor."

"You don't argue with him or vote against him in the next election. You kill him."

The speaker went on to say the party would hold a rally Sunday in the capital.

Poor Reading Rapped By NEA

1 In 4 Students Have Deficiencies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A report to be distributed to the 108th annual convention of the National Education Association this week discloses that one of four students nationwide have reading deficiencies.

Prepared by the National School Public Relations Association, an NEA affiliate, the report also states that there are more than three million illiterates in the adult population and that half the unemployed between 16 and 21 years old are functionally illiterate.

The report says large numbers of elementary school teachers have never been taught to teach reading effectively.

It adds that most high school teachers have never had a course in reading although they are confronted daily with students with reading deficiencies. The report urges more individualized classroom instruction, remedial classes and home tutoring.

The NEA convention, which runs until July 6, focused today on the Association of Classroom Teachers, an organization within the NEA composed of 900,000 classroom teachers.

The main NEA Representative Assembly, with 7,000 delegates participating, gets underway Friday morning. It may be faced with a touchy racial problem involving the predominantly white North Carolina Education Association and the predominantly black North Carolina Teachers Association.

The white group said it plans to become a racially unified organization. Leaders of the Negro group insist they will not merge unless certain conditions are met and will seek to be seated as the official delegates.

Earlier this year two white state NEA affiliates, in Louisiana and Mississippi, were expelled for failure to merge racially separated NEA affiliates.

Muny Judge Hears Shoplifting Case

In Municipal Court action Wednesday, Lena Freda Fry, 158 W. Union St., was handed a $35 suspended sentence and put on probation for two years by acting Judge Allen Berger for shoplifting at the A and P Store, Island Road.

In other action: Thomas D. Ackley, 28, Route 1, Ashville, forfeited a $24 bond for not stopping at a stop sign. Fred Smallwood, 34, Route 4, for a $34 bond for operating an unsafe vehicle.

Wilmen J. Kimble, 49, 107 Scioto St., Ashville, forfeited a $19 bond for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Roger L. Hardbarger, Route 1, Ashville, forfeited a $19 bond for making unnecessary noise.

Young And Saxbe Vote To Curb Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Stephen M. Young and William B. Saxbe of Ohio cast opposing votes Tuesday as the Senate overrode 76-19 President Nixon's veto of hospital construction legislation.

Democrat Young voted for overriding, while Saxbe, a Republican, voted against.

Church Plans District Assemblies

B. J. Lemaster, presiding minister of the Circleville congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced that the local Witnesses have been invited to attend the "Men of Goodwill" District Assemblies to be held in 46 cities throughout the United States and Canada this month through August. He stated that some 400,000 delegates will be attending the conventions from all 50 states and that the four-day program will be oriented to benefit parents and young people. There will be dramas presented with Biblical and modern settings as well as symposiums.

A featured speaker at many of the conventions will be Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, the representative agency for Jehovah's Witnesses in 203 lands. Many of the local Witnesses will be attending the closer conventions in Pittsburgh, Pa., Jersey City, N. J., Hampton, Va., Laurel, Md., Wilmington, Del., and Detroit, Mich.

All sessions will be free and as always, no collections taken.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — "Eight out of ten jobs to be filled in the 1970s will be open to young workers with less than a college degree." The statement is from a Labor Department news release on training requirements for jobs.

"Of course I intend to send my kids to college. I don't know how I'll pay, but no youngster will have a chance in the future without a college degree." That statement could be made by any of several million parents.

The discrepancy in outlooks has many ramifications for the individual and society, now and in the immediate future.

For the present, should families go deeply in debt to pay tuition for a youngster who really doesn't want to go to college? For the future: Will a degree make the recipient happier even if he doesn't get a better job?

And for society: Is the present popular attitude that "everyone is entitled to a college education" really shortsighted?

Admittedly, the questions assume that education is solely for the purpose of obtaining a suitable job, which really is too narrow a definition. It is, however, one of the chief reasons why Americans attend college.

In doing so, they are not misinformed. Professional and technical jobs, which almost always require college training, are expected to grow faster than any other occupational group, according to the Labor Department.

However, in announcing publication of the biennial—every two years—Occupational Outlook Handbook, the Labor Department makes a distinction between percentage growth and the growth in actual numbers.

"More than two-thirds of the job openings arising from occupational growth and replacement needs through the 1970s will be in clerical, sales, service, blue collar and farm jobs that usually do not require a college degree."

"Fast-growing jobs within these occupational groups include electronic computer operator, business machine service man, cashier, hospital attendant, receptionist, stewardess and library technician."

The distinction that many Americans do not make is this: Jobs in the future may require more schooling than in the past, but that schooling does not necessarily mean more college education.

This is the outlook for some selected jobs that do not, at present, require college degrees, but which might demand vocational training or apprenticeships:

—Manufacturers' salesmen. "Very good opportunities." Annual openings of about 32,000 a year are expected during the 1970s.

—Police officers. "Very good opportunities. Cities will continue to increase the size of their police forces to meet the needs of growing population." Institutions also may expand their security forces.

—Electronic Computer Operating Personnel. Annual openings of 20,400. "Employment of computer and auxiliary equipment operators is expected to increase very rapidly as computers are adapted to new uses."

—Business Machine service men. "Very favorable job opportunities for those who have good mechanical ability and knowledge of electricity and electronics." Annual openings of about 8,500.

—Plumbers and pipefitters. Openings of 19,500 a year. "Rapid increase in employment through the 1970s as plumbing and heating work become more important in rising construction activity."

INGENUITY: The owner of a driving range in the Green Mountains area has discovered a 98-percent effective means of discouraging patrons from pilfering golf balls. Every ball in his stock is stamped "Stolen."

A few super-signs spotted by Tom Gallagher:

1. A panhandler threatens with this placard: "I have measles. Toss me a buck or I'll touch you."
2. At a Missouri hospital: "Children are not allowed in the maternity ward."
3. Outside a White Mountain church: "Annual rummage Tuesday. Get rid of things around the house you never use. Bring your husband."
4. In a laundromat: "When finished washing please remove all your clothes."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband believes that there are many other reasons for cancer besides tobacco. This is the argument he gives me for not giving up smoking. Is this true?

Mrs. B.K.L., Pennsylvania
Dear Mrs. L.: Certainly tobacco is not the only cause of cancer. Despite world-wide research, the total answer to cancer is not available. In some instances, smog and air pollution play a role. Gases and particles that are offshoots of large industries must play a harmful role, since workers are constantly exposed to these irritants.

Chemicals in some foods have been under suspicion, as have those used in insecticides. As soon as a scientific report points to another substance as a cancer-producing agent, it is studied experimentally. When proven to be carcinogenic or cancer-producing, it must be eliminated from the diet, from the air and from the water.

Much is yet to be learned. We do know, however, that cigarette smoking is a distinct liability and is undoubtedly an important factor as one of the causes of cancer of the lungs and cancer of the larynx. This is undeniable and has been scientifically substantiated to a sufficient degree to make any sensible person stop "committing suicide slowly" with tobacco. Under the guise of a "scientific" argument, your husband refuses to confront the truth.

Many of my readers write and ask about new drugs, new techniques and new devices that I mention in the column. Material in the "Hopeful News in Medicine" column is culled from medical and scientific literature from all over the world. I carefully choose to write about those items that will bring a sense of hope and overshadow the fears and anxieties that surround most of us.

It must be emphasized that all of the items I discuss are known to your own physician. He is thoroughly acquainted with the preliminary research on experimental animals and follows, with great enthusiasm, any application to his own patients.

Understandably, many patients with asthma, arthritis, circulatory diseases, chronic kidney disease and severe blood disorders urgently want new drugs for their own use. It is a source of great disappointment when they learn that these drugs are not available. No! until a new drug has carefully been evaluated it is released for public consumption. There is hope, however, in the knowledge that new studies continue. Your own physician, truly the bulwark of modern medicine, is as aware of these advances as are medical columnists.

Adolescents must know that communication between them and their doctors is a private one and that their trust will not be violated.

You're Telling Me

Now comes that time of year when summer not only takes full charge but we also enter the month of July — one of the busiest months in the history of these United States.

For instance, the greatest battle fought on American soil began this date in 1863 — the Battle of Gettysburg. Four days later Grant took Vicksburg.

During an earlier July — 1778 — Mad Anthony Wayne stormed Stony Point. In July of 1898 U.S. Admiral Sampson destroyed the Spanish fleet.

Of course, everyone knows why we celebrate July 4 — but a nice thing to remember, too, is that a real-for-sure American boy was born on that date in 1872. He was Calvin Coolidge who went on to become president of the United States.

A sad note is that two former U.S. presidents — John Adams and Thomas Jefferson — both died the same day — July 4, 1826.

A much happier time was the official opening of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., July 4, 1802.

Three states came into the American Union in the month of July — New York in 1788 — and Idaho and Wyoming, both in 1890. Also, incidentally, the 50-star American flag, thanks to Hawaii, became our present national emblem on July 4, 1960.

More pounds of pickles are picked and packed in the United States than canned peaches, corn, peas, apple sauce or tomatoes. Pickles use more glass bottles than any other food product.

Taking Jobs To Workers

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

COLOGNE — After visiting a big petrochemical complex, a couple of large banks, and the board room of a steel company in this heavily industrialized area, one has an uncanny sense that the fates of the U.S. and West Germany are indissolubly linked. The two nations have their economic virtues in common: they are proficient in technology, diligent in their working habits, and filled with the spirit of the entrepreneur. Yet they are surrounded by a world that is far gone in socialism, which means they have the same envious hostilities to fend off.

Since the U.S. has its own continental market, it doesn't have quite the worries that the West Germans have. The German economy must export to live, for some 19 per cent of its Gross National Product comes from overseas sales. And, with a surplus of money flowing into their country, the Germans must find a way of investing their foreign earnings overseas just to keep things balanced.

This was the sort of situation that Britain faced in the 19th century, when London's income from abroad went back across the ocean to finance railroads in the Argentine, tea plantations in the Orient and mines in South Africa. Only now, in the nineteenth century, the underdeveloped countries don't wish to encounter another Britain. Admiring socialism of one type or another, they don't want to pay for any capital they can get as a gift. They will accept loans, but the threat of "nationalization" always lies heavily over the country with investment funds to spare.

Curiously, the sense of living in an unfriendly world doesn't seem to faze the Germans. There is Otto Wolff von Amerongen, for example, who is the chairman of the German Industry's Committee for Business Relations with Eastern European countries, president of the German Chamber of Commerce and Industry and president of the Cologne Chamber of Commerce.

A steel man with good capitalist instincts, who thinks West Germany must cling to the western alliance, Herr Wolff explores the subtleties involved in doing business with countries in which the spirit of Marx and Lenin lives. He notes that money might be made from management fees in running factories for the Yugoslav variety of Communist, and from selling them spare parts. The East, he says, must come to the West for something: Poland needs machinery, Rumania is worth cultivating. Some 5 per cent of Germany's trade is with the eastern bloc, which includes Red China. Herr Wolff seems to be willing to make a penny wherever it can be made, although he doesn't talk like a man who wants to build up potential enemies.

Otto Wolff must have been the fifth man encountered in two days of interviewing who offers the theory that the Germans must find ways of "bringing the factories to labor, not labor to the factories." With 1.7 million foreign workers, most of them from the south of Europe, a currently employed in Germany, the idea would be to let the visiting workers return eventually to Spain, to Italy and to Greece to take jobs in plants built by exported German capital. This suggestion makes sense to Paul Lichtenberg and Dr. Wolfgang Jahn, directors of the big Commerzbank. They rejected the idea that the Germans might emulate the Schwarzenbach movement in Switzerland, which has tried to expel foreign workers by law. Instead of turning against the workers it "would be better to export the machines," so the Commerzbank directors said.

At the big Bayer chemical production center in Leverkusen just down the Rhine from Cologne one hears the same litany: "We think it better to export jobs to foreign countries than to export goods." Bayer, the second largest exporter in the German Federal Republic, has interests in almost three hundred enterprises both at home and abroad, with eighty factories in five continents. So it can't be faulted from the standpoint of exporting jobs as well as chemicals.

By putting their money to work overseas, the Germans would get off the book on which they are now suspended. The outer world doesn't like the idea that the Germans must run a perpetual trade surplus. It makes people both jealous and angry, for one nation's surplus is interpreted as another nation's deficits. But if "the factories could be sent to labor," the existing export surpluses would turn into even-up balances. The world would be properly financed and socialism would perish for lack of envious to exploit.

35 YEARS AGO

In celebration of the 40th anniversary of his ordination and the 37th anniversary of his service as pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church, the congregation prepared a surprise reception for Rev. G. J. Troutman.

Air conditioned cars became the standard equipment on deluxe N & W Railroad trains serving the Columbus to Portsmouth area. This was one of a fleet of 66 cars having the new air conditioning in use by the railroad.

Harry Griner, R. G. Colville, A. C. Cook, Mrs. W. W. Robinson and Frank Lynch were appointed to a committee to select a site for the city park. $3,333 was received in donations and pledges to help finance the project. Four acres along Hargus Creek were offered as a donation by the heirs of S. T. Ruggles if the committee would find the land suitable.

July 13 was recorded as the hottest day of the year when the mercury inched its way to a hot and humid 97 degrees.

Cussins and Fearn offered citizens $10 on their old ice box when they purchased the beautiful 6.3 cubic foot electric refrigerator for $139.50.

Hamilton's Store offered these summer products: Bathing caps, 5 and 10 cents each; bathing suits 49 cents, sun suits 25 cents.

A cigarette tossed from the window of the clerk of court's office caused the loss of an awning on the courthouse. The heat was intense enough to crack the window glass of the window to the treasurer's office.

Brothers Kermit and Howard Thomas unveiled a new marvel of the machine age which arrived at their Wayne Twp.

farm. The device was a mechanical combine requiring only three persons to operate it, eliminating the use of about 10 men at harvesting time and about 25 at threshing time. The throng-gatherer cost approximately $1,750.

Ralston Purina Company announced that an extensive expansion program was underway at the Circleville plant. A contract had been let for the construction of a concrete storage elevator to be located east of the main building to increase the storage capacity of the plant to a quarter of a million bushels of grain.

E. G. Anderson, long time an Ashville blacksmith, found autos creating a slack in his business. So he fitted up a portable smithy shop, installed a phone and was in business all over the county to "shoe the old gray mare," or "fix the mowing machine."

Tom Hill, known to Roundtowners as the "Mayor of Beantown," died at his home at the age of 72.

Guns were used freely to capture four youths wanted in Pennsylvania for murdering a night watchman. The boys were captured by an army of Franklin and Pickaway county deputies and officers. Recognized at Watt St., the boys led State Highway patrolmen a wild chase out Lancaster Pike and into a field on the Samuel Copeland farm, mistaking the driveway for a farm road. One Columbus detective was badly wounded in the chase. One of the criminal quartet was shot in the side.

Two women members of a gypsy band robbed a Monroe Twp. farmer of $20 when they stopped at his farm to ask for some nails. The women were suspected to be the same pickpockets who fleeced a Civil War veteran of $300 the day before at his farm in Oak Hill.

One year ago—Britain's Prince Charles was invested as the prince of Wales.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEY (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — A successful shopping trip takes more than a pair of comfortable shoes and unlimited funds. What you really need is the flexibility to want what you find, when you can't find what you want.

I always start my expeditions with a pocket full of cash, a heart full of hope and a head full of ideas on exactly what I want. By the time I've reached the finish line, I've got only the money. I've lost all hope of locating what I'm looking for.

If I find the perfect dress, it's the wrong size. If it's the right size, it's a color that even an eager saleslady can't bring herself to admire on me. If it's a becoming shade, it's not my style.

And if it's the right size, right color, right style and right price, just as I'm happily starting to pay for it I'm sure to find a misweave in the material or an irreparable rip in the skirt. With my new raincoat, though, I beat the odds.

I already had a couple of raincoats in bright colors that always seemed to clash with what I was wearing, so I was determined to get a good, old-fashioned raincoat—color raincoat. The sort of noncolor that would go with everything proved predictably elusive but at last I found THE coat—and it fit perfectly.

Then I noticed that one button, impossible to match, was off and two more barely hanging on. The missing button turned up in the pocket and the saleslady suggested that the seamstress, already gone for the day, would sew them all back on if I'd leave it overnight.

Since I hate to sew buttons on even more than I hated to walk back to the store, I paid a deposit and left. The next night I presented my sales slip to a young gentleman in charge of the department, who trotted off to layaway.

But the coat wasn't where it should have been. I explained about the buttons and we decided it had to be in the sewing room. No luck there either. My helpful friend then checked every fitting room, a process that took another 10 minutes. He apologetically offered to return my deposit but I didn't want the money—I wanted the coat.

"Let me look in the sewing room once more," he insisted. And back he came with the prize, which had been hidden behind a door.

But the button was still missing, the others still loose.

"If you'll be patient a few minutes longer, I'll have one of the girls sew them on," he promised. It took a bit longer than that, but at last my coat was really mine—elapsed time 38 minutes.

I was thanking my gracious helper warmly when suspicion dawned. "Did you," I asked, "sew those buttons on yourself?"

Just as I thought—he had.

Critics In Uproar

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How much farther can the movies go?

That question has been asked ever since the film companies started latching onto the sex revolution and throwing the self-censorship guidelines out the window. Each season has brought a new wave of what a Catholic critic has deplorably termed "moral brinkmanship."

"How can they get away with it?" puzzle moviegoers who remember when married couples couldn't even share a bed in films.

The question now seems useless. It is no longer a question of "getting away with it." The one-time Production Code appears reduced to the function of determining which films are too gaudy to be seen by minors.

Consider the case of "Myra Breckinridge." One of the major scenes in the Gore Vidal novel depicted the sex-changing Myra committing an act of sodomy with a brawny actor. "You can't film that," the scoffers said. But 20th Century-Fox did. With Raquel Welch. In living color.

Many other sexual acts between persons of varying sexes are displayed in the film. This is the movie that Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Producers, gave an unprecedented endorsement. In handing "Myra Breckinridge" an x rating, he remarked:

"I personally found the film a very funny spoof, but a picture children should not see."

Other reviewers weren't as kind. Daily Variety's Arthur Murphy called the film "strictly exploitation novelty material of dubious taste." The Los Angeles Times' Champin called it "pu-trescence."

Producer Paul Monash of "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" jumped into the affair and said such films gave Hollywood the reputation of being a purveyor of "unredeemed filth." He called for Valenti's resignation "unless he can feel the need to exert some moral leadership in the industry."

Another 20th Century-Fox film was released in the same week, "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls." Critic Champin called it "a treat for the emotionally retarded, sexually inadequate and dimwitted," adding:

"The Zanucks, man and boy, ought to have their studio washed out with soap."

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — "Eight out of ten jobs to be filled in the 1970s will be open to young workers with less than a college degree." The statement is from a Labor Department news release on training requirements for jobs.

"Of course I intend to send my kids to college. I don't know how I'll pay, but no youngster will have a chance in the future without a college degree." That statement could be made by any of several million parents.

The discrepancy in outlooks has many ramifications for the individual and society, now and in the immediate future.

For the present: Should families go deeply in debt to pay tuition for a youngster who really doesn't want to go to college? For the future: Will a degree make the recipient happier even if he doesn't get a better job?

And for society: Is the present popular attitude that "everyone is entitled to a college education" really shortsighted?

Admittedly, the questions assume that education is solely for the purpose of obtaining a suitable job, which really is too narrow a definition. It is, however, one of the chief reasons why Americans attend college.

In doing so, they are not misinformed. Professional and technical jobs, which almost always require college training, are expected to grow faster than any other occupational group, according to the Labor Department.

However, in announcing publication of the biennial—every two years—Occupational Outlook Handbook, the Labor Department makes a distinction between percentage growth and the growth in actual numbers.

"More than two-thirds of the job openings arising from occupational growth and replacement needs through the 1970s will be in clerical, sales, service, blue collar and farm jobs that usually do not require a college degree."

"Fast-growing jobs within these occupational groups include electronic computer operator, business machine service man, cashier, hospital attendant, receptionist, stewardess and library technician."

The distinction that many Americans do not make is this—Jobs in the future may require more schooling than in the past, but that schooling does not necessarily mean more college education.

This is the outlook for some selected jobs that do not, at present, require college degrees, but which might demand vocational training or apprenticeships:

—Manufacturers' salesmen. "Very good opportunities." Annual openings of about 32,000 a year are expected during the 1970s.

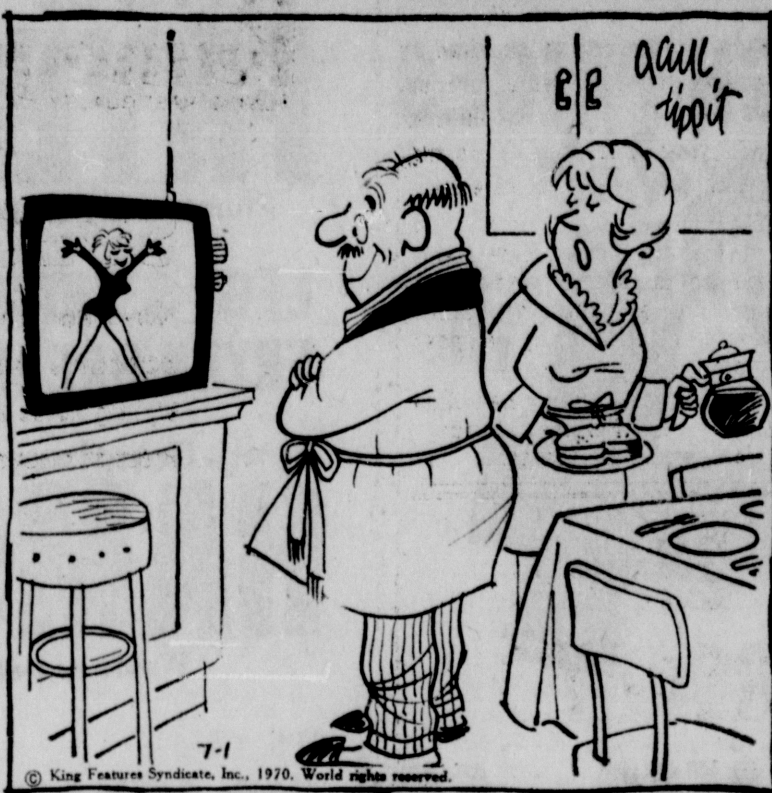

—Police officers. "Very good opportunities. Cities will continue to increase the size of their police forces to meet the needs of growing population." Institutions also may expand their security forces.

—Electronic Computer Operating Personnel. Annual openings of 20,400. "Employment of computer and auxiliary equipment operators is expected to increase very rapidly as computers are adapted to new uses."

—Business Machine service men. "Very favorable jobs opportunities for those who have good mechanical ability and knowledge of electricity and electronics." Annual openings of about 8,500.

—Plumbers and pipefitters. Openings of 19,500 a year. "Rapid increase in employment through the 1970s as plumbing and heating work become more important in rising construction activity."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

INGENUITY: The owner of a driving range in the Green Mountains area has discovered a 98-percent effective means of discouraging patrons from pilfering golf balls. Every ball in his stock is stamped "Stolen."

A smart reporter, coming in to interview a newcomer to Hollywood who, by backing a picture made by teenagers that became a surprise smash hit, had made five million dollars in four months, was ushered into the fortunate man's brand new study. Taking a hasty mental inventory of the decor, he said, "I see you've acquired a Monet and a Picasso."

The owner eyed him in amazement, and said, "Believe it or not, you're the SECOND person who's noticed that!"

A few super-signs spotted by Tom Gallagher:
1. A panhandler threatens with this placard: "I have measles. Toss me a buck or I'll touch you."
2. At a Missouri hospital: "Children are not allowed in the maternity ward."
3. Outside a White Mountain church: "Annual rummage Tuesday. Get rid of things around the house you never use. Bring your husband."
4. In a laundromat: "When finished washing please remove all your clothes."

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEY (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — A successful shopping trip takes more than a pair of comfortable shoes and unlimited funds. What you really need is the flexibility to want what you find, when you can't find what you want.

I always start my expeditions with a pocket full of cash, a heart full of hope and a head full of ideas on exactly what I want. By the time I've reached the finish line, I've got only the money. I've lost all hope of locating what I'm looking for.

If I find the perfect dress, it's the wrong size. If it's the right size, it's a color that even an eager saleslady can't bring herself to admire on me. If it's a becoming shade, it's not my style.

And if it's the right size, right color, right style and right price, just as I'm happily starting to pay for it I'm sure to find a misweave in the material or an irreparable rip in the skirt. With my new raincoat, though, I beat the odds.

I already had a couple of raincoats in bright colors that always seemed to clash with what I was wearing, so I was determined to get a good, old-fashioned raincoat—color raincoat. The sort of noncolor that would go with everything proved predictably elusive but at last I found THE coat—and it fit perfectly.

Then I noticed that one button, impossible to match, was off and two more barely hanging on. The missing button turned up in the pocket and the saleslady suggested that the seamstress, already gone for the day, would sew them all back on if I'd leave it overnight.

Since I hate to sew buttons on even more than I hated to walk back to the store, I paid a deposit and left. The next night I presented my sales slip to a young gentleman in charge of the department, who trotted off to jayaway.

But the coat wasn't where it should have been. I explained about the buttons and we decided it had to be in the sewing room. No luck there either. My helpful friend then checked every fitting room, a process that took another 10 minutes. He apologetically offered to return my deposit but I didn't want the money—I wanted the coat.

"Let me look in the sewing room once more," he insisted. And back he came with the prize, which had been hidden behind a door.

But the button was still missing, the others still loose.

"If you'll be patient a few minutes longer, I'll have one of the girls sew them on," he promised. It took a bit longer than that, but at last my coat was really mine—elapsed time 33 minutes.

I was thanking my gracious helper warmly when suspicion dawned. "Did you," I asked, "sew those buttons on yourself?"

Just as I thought—he had.

Critics In Uproar

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How much farther can the movies go?

That question has been asked ever since the film companies started latching onto the sex revolution and throwing the self-censorship guidelines out the window. Each season has brought a new wave of what a Catholic critic has deplorably termed "moral brinkmanship."

"How can they get away with it?" puzzle moviegoers who remember when married couples couldn't even share a bed in films.

The question now seems useless. It is no longer a question of "getting away with it." The one-time Production Code appears reduced to the function of determining which films are too gay to be seen by minors.

Consider the case of "Myra Breckinridge." One of the major scenes in the Gore Vidal novel depicted the sex-changing Myra committing an act of sodomy with a brawny actor.

"You can't film that," the censors said. But 20th Century-Fox did. With Raquel Welch. In living color.

Many other sexual acts between persons of varying sexes are displayed in the film. This is the movie that Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Producers, gave an unprecedented endorsement. In handing "Myra Breckinridge" an X rating, he remarked:

"I personally found the film a very funny spoof, but a picture children should not see."

Other reviewers weren't as kind. Daily Variety's Arthur Murphy called the film "strictly exploitation novelty material of dubious taste." The Los Angeles Times' Champlin called it "pretentious."

Producer Paul Monash of "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" jumped into the affair and said such films gave Hollywood the reputation of being a purveyor of "unredeemed filth." He called for Valenti's resignation "unless he can feel the need to exert some moral leadership in the industry."

Another 20th Century-Fox film was released in the same week, "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls." Critic Champlin called it "a treat for the emotionally retarded, sexually inadequate and dimwitted," adding:

"The Zanucks, man and boy, ought to have their studio washed out with soap."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband believes that there are many other reasons for cancer besides tobacco. This is the argument he gives me for not giving up smoking. Is this true?

Mrs. B.K.L., Pennsylvania
Dear Mrs. L.: Certainly tobacco is not the only cause of cancer. Despite world-wide research, the total answer to cancer is not available. In some instances, smog and air pollution play a role. Gases and particles that are offshoots of large industries must play a harmful role, since workers are constantly exposed to these irritants.

Chemicals in some foods have been under suspicion, as have those used in insecticides. As soon as a scientific report points to another substance as a cancer-producing agent, it is studied experimentally. When proven to be carcinogenic or cancer-producing, it must be eliminated from the diet, from the air and from the water.

Much is yet to be learned. We do know, however, that cigarette smoking is a distinct liability and is undoubtedly an important factor as one of the causes of cancer of the lungs and cancer of the larynx. This is undeniable and has been scientifically substantiated to a sufficient degree to make any sensible person stop "committing suicide slowly" with tobacco. Under the guise of a "scientific" argument, your husband refuses to confront the truth.

Many of my readers write and ask about new drugs, new techniques and new devices that I mention in the column. Material in the "Hopeful News in Medicine" column is culled from medical and scientific literature from all over the world. I carefully choose to write about those items that will bring a sense of hope and overshadow the fears and anxieties that surround most of us.

It must be emphasized that all of the items I discuss are known to your own physician. He is thoroughly acquainted with the preliminary research on experimental animals and follows, with great enthusiasm, any application to his own patients.

Understandably, many patients with asthma, arthritis, circulatory diseases, chronic kidney disease and severe blood disorders urgently want new drugs for their own use. It is a source of great disappointment when they learn that these drugs are not available.

No! until a new drug has carefully been evaluated it is released for public consumption. There is hope, however, in the knowledge that new studies continue. Your own physician, truly the bulwark of modern medicine, is as aware of these advances as are medical columnists.

Adolescents must know that communication between them and their doctors is a private one and that their trust will not be violated.

You're Telling Me

Now comes that time of year when summer not only takes full charge but we also enter the month of July — one of the busiest months in the history of these United States.

For instance, the greatest battle fought on American soil began this date in 1863 — the Battle of Gettysburg. Four days later Grant took Vicksburg.

During an earlier July — 1778 — Mad Anthony Wayne stormed Stony Point. In July of 1898 U.S. Admiral Sampson destroyed the Spanish fleet.

Of course, everyone knows why we celebrate July 4—but a nice thing to remember, too, is that a real-for-sure American boy was born on that date in 1872. He was Calvin Coolidge who went on to become president of the United States.

A sad note is that two former U.S. presidents — John Adams and Thomas Jefferson — both died the same day — July 4, 1826.

A much happier time was the official opening of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., July 4, 1802.

Three states came into the American Union in the month of July — New York in 1788 — and Idaho and Wyoming, both in 1890. Also, incidentally, the 50-star American flag, thanks to Hawaii, became our present national emblem on July 4, 1960.

More pounds of pickles are picked and packed in the United States than canned peaches, corn, peas, apple sauce or tomatoes. Pickles use more glass bottles than any other food product.

Taking Jobs To Workers

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

COLOGNE — After visiting a big petrochemical complex, a couple of large banks, and the board room of a steel company in this heavily industrialized area, one has an uncanny sense that the fates of the U.S. and West Germany are indissolubly linked. The two nations have their economic virtues in common: they are proficient in technology, diligent in their working habits, and filled with the spirit of the entrepreneur. Yet they are surrounded by a world that is far gone in socialism, which means they have the same envious hostilities to fend off.

Since the U.S. has its own continental market, it doesn't have quite the worries that the West Germans have. The German economy must export to live, for some 19 per cent of its Gross National Product comes from overseas sales. And, with a surplus of money flowing into their country, the Germans must find a way of investing their foreign earnings overseas just to keep things balanced.

This was the sort of situation that Britain faced in the 19th century, when London's income from abroad went back across the ocean to finance railroads in the Argentine, tea plantations in the Orient and mines in South Africa. Only now, in the nineteenth seventies, the underdeveloped countries don't wish to encounter another Britain. Admiring socialism of one type or another, they don't want to pay for any capital they can get as a gift. They will accept loans, but the threat of "nationalization" always lies heavily over the country with investment funds to spare.

Curiously, the sense of living in an unfriendly world doesn't seem to faze the Germans. There is Otto Wolff von Amerongen, for example, who is the chairman of the German Industry's Committee for Business Relations with Eastern European countries, president of the German Chamber of Commerce and Industry and president of the Cologne Chamber of Commerce.

A steel man with good capitalist instincts, who thinks West Germany must cling to the western alliance, Herr Wolff explores the subtleties involved in doing business with countries in which the spirit of Marx and Lenin lives. He notes that money might be made from management fees in running factories for the Yugoslav variety of Communist, and from selling them spare parts. The East, he says, must come to the West for something: Poland needs machinery, Rumania is lush with cultivation. Some 5 per cent of Germany's trade is with the eastern bloc, which includes Red China. Herr Wolff seems to be willing to make a pennig wherever it can be made, although he doesn't talk like a man who wants to build up potential enemies.

Otto Wolff must have been the fifth man encountered in two days of interviewing who offers the theory that the Germans must find ways of "bringing the factories to labor, not labor to the factories." With 1.7 million foreign workers, most of them from the south of Europe, currently employed in Germany, the idea would be to let the visiting workers return eventually to Spain, to Italy and to Greece to take jobs in plants built by exported German capital. This suggestion makes sense to Paul Lichtenberg and Dr. Wolfgang Jahn, directors of the big Commerzbank. They rejected the idea that the Germans might emulate the Schwarzenbach movement in Switzerland, which has tried to expel foreign workers by law. Instead of turning against the workers it "would be better to export the machines," so the Commerzbank directors said.

At the big Bayer chemical production center in Leverkusen just down the Rhine from Cologne one hears the same litaney: "We think it better to export jobs to foreign countries than to export goods." Bayer, the second largest exporter in the German Federal Republic, has interests in almost three hundred enterprises both at home and abroad, with eighty factories in five continents. So it can't be faulted from the standpoint of exporting jobs as well as chemicals.

By putting their money to work overseas, the Germans would get off the hook on which they are now suspended. The outer world doesn't like the idea that the Germans must run a perpetual trade surplus. It makes people both jealous and angry, for one nation's surplus is interpreted as another nation's deficits. But if "the factories could be sent to labor," the existing export surpluses would turn into even-up balances. The world would be properly financed and socialism would perish for lack of envies to exploit.

35 YEARS AGO

In celebration of the 40th anniversary of his ordination and the 37th anniversary of his service as pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church, the congregation prepared a surprise reception for Rev. G. J. Troutman.

Air conditioned cars became the standard equipment on two deluxe N & W Railroad trains serving the Columbus to Portsmouth area. This was one of a fleet of 66 cars having the new air conditioning in use by the railroad.

Harry Griner, R. G. Colville, A. C. Cook, Mrs. W. W. Robinson and Frank Lynch were appointed to a committee to select a site for the city park. $3,335 was received in donations and pledges to help finance the project. Four acres along Hargus Creek were offered as a donation by the heirs of S. T. Ruggles if the committee would find the land suitable.

July 13 was recorded as the hottest day of the year when the mercury inched its way to a hot and humid 97 degrees.

Cussins and Fearn offered these summer products: Bathing caps, 5 and 10 cents each; bathing suits 49 cents, sun suits 25 cents.

A cigarette tossed from the window of the clerk of court's office caused the loss of an awning on the courthouse. The heat was intense enough to crack the window glass of the window to the treasurers' office.

Brothers Kermit and Howard Thomas unveiled a new marvel of the machine age which arrived at their Wayne Twp.

farm. The device was a mechanical combine requiring only three persons to operate it, eliminating the use of about 10 men at harvesting time and about 25 at threshing time. The throng-gatherer cost approximately $1,750.

Ralston Purina Company announced that an extensive expansion program was underway at the Circleville plant. A contract had been let for the construction of a concrete storage elevator to be located east of the main building to increase the storage capacity of the plant to a quarter of a million bushels of grain.

E. G. Anderson, long time an Ashville blacksmith, found autos creating a slack in his business. So he fitted up a portable smithy shop, installed a phone and was in business all over the county to "shoe the old gray mare," or "fix the mowing machine."

Tom Hill, known to Round-towners as the "Mayor of Beantown," died at his home at the age of 72.

Guns were used freely to capture four youths wanted in Pennsylvania for murdering a night watchman. The boys were captured by an army of Franklin and Pickaway county deputies and officers. Recognized at Watt St., the boys led State Highway patrolmen a wild chase out Lancaster Pike and into a field on the Samuel Copeland farm, mistaking their driveway for a farm road. One Columbus detective was badly wounded in the chase. One of the criminal quartet was shot in the side.

Two women members of a gypsy band robbed a Monroe Twp. farmer of $20 when they stopped at his farm to ask for some nails. The women were suspected to be the same pickpockets who fleeced a Civil War veteran of $300 the day before at his farm in Oak Hill.

Jackie Gleason To Be Married

MIAMI (AP) — Comedian Jackie Gleason and Beverly McKittrick, a blonde former secretary, will be married in Ashford, England Saturday.

Hank Meyer, a Miami publicist who is spokesman for the TV star, said the couple would honeymoon for about a week in London and then spend an unspecified time in a rented home in the county of Surrey.

Gleason received a New York state divorce last week from his wife of 34 years.

Dove Rules PD With Iron Beak

DEERFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A cooing, pecking mourning dove is ruling the Deerfield police station with an iron beak.

The feathered jailbird had to be arrested for trying to roost on the heads of two children and attempting to peck its way through the rear door of a home here.

A visitor to the police station said he thought it was a little odd that a police department should be harboring a peace symbol.

"Why not?" said Patrolman William E. Behnke, "birds of a feather flock together."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

The High Cost Of Senior Proms

DEAR ABBY: Tonight was the Senior Prom and a lot of nice girls sat home wondering why they didn't get asked. I am a nice boy who went, and now I wish I hadn't and I'll tell you why. It cost me over $50. Not for the prom itself, but on all the junk that went with it.

My girl already had tickets to the prom and she said, "It won't cost much—let's go." So I said, "Sure."

She said she would wear her old formal and I could wear my suit. Next thing I knew she started talking about the gorgeous formal she was making, and I felt like a heel not to rent a tux to match. So I did. She said she didn't need a corsage—a nosegay would be nice. Well, that was $10. She said she would fix something to eat at her house after the prom, but that night she didn't say a word about it. I guess she forgot so we went to the restaurant all the kids go to. Another $20.

Abby, that evening cost me two week's wages. And for what?

SADDER BUT WISER.

BREMERTON, WASH.

DEAR SADDER: The way I see it, you could have gone to the prom without all the frills and saved a few bucks. Your mistake was getting roped into a more costly deal than you originally bargained for. But don't blame the girl. You could have held your ground. (P. S. And you'd better learn how to say NO or you'll wind up with a wife who will put you in the poorhouse.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who interrupts me every time I start to say something. I get about two words said, and she cuts me off, and I never do get to finish what I started to say.

I think this is just plain rude. Is there some way I can let her know how much I dislike this about her?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: If you can't get more than two words said before she interrupts you, maybe you'd better write HER a letter instead of me.

DEAR ABBY: I need your assistance. When your son's wife calls you up and says, "My family is coming to dinner to celebrate Andrea's birthday. Come if you want to," should I refuse or accept?

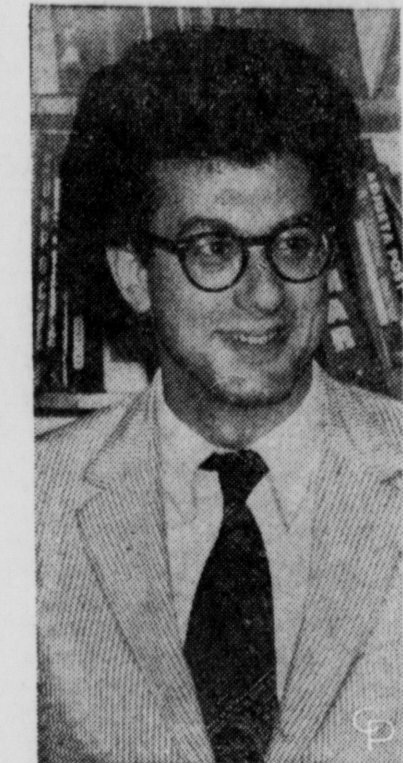

Andrea is my little grandchild, and I love her dearly, but what kind of an invitation do you call that? And what should I do?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I call it a pretty shabby invitation. But don't stay away in order to "punish" your daughter-in-law. You would only be punishing yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I want to tell that 14-year-old, signed "NOT CONCEITED," that I am a woman past 80 years old, I live alone and have a full length mirror near my front door. There I always pause before going out, to take a good look at myself. How else would I know if my petticoat was hanging? Of course endless primping is a waste of time, but a little last minute glimpse is reassuring.

She said she would wear her old formal and I could wear my suit. Next thing I knew she started talking about the gorgeous formal she was making, and I felt like a heel not to rent a tux to match. So I did. She said she didn't need a corsage—a nosegay would be nice. Well, that was $10. She said she would fix something to eat at her house after the prom, but that night she didn't say a word about it. I guess she forgot so we went to the restaurant all the kids go to. Another $20.

Abby, that evening cost me two week's wages. And for what?

SADDER BUT WISER.

BREMERTON, WASH.

DEAR SADDER: The way I see it, you could have gone to the prom without all the frills and saved a few bucks. Your mistake was getting roped into a more costly deal than you originally bargained for. But don't blame the girl. You could have held your ground. (P. S. And you'd better learn how to say NO or you'll wind up with a wife who will put you in the poorhouse.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who interrupts me every time I start to say something. I get about two words said, and she cuts me off, and I never do get to finish what I started to say.

I think this is just plain rude. Is there some way I can let her know how much I dislike this about her?

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: If you can't get more than two words said before she interrupts you, maybe you'd better write HER a letter instead of me.

DEAR ABBY: I need your assistance. When your son's wife calls you up and says, "My family is coming to dinner to celebrate Andrea's birthday. Come if you want to," should I refuse or accept?

Andrea is my little grandchild, and I love her dearly, but what kind of an invitation do you call that? And what should I do?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I call it a pretty shabby invitation. But don't stay away in order to "punish" your daughter-in-law. You would only be punishing yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I want to tell that 14-year-old, signed "NOT CONCEITED," that I am a woman past 80 years old, I live alone and have a full length mirror near my front door. There I always pause before going out, to take a good look at myself. How else would I know if my petticoat was hanging? Of course endless primping is a waste of time, but a little last minute glimpse is reassuring.

Pythian Sunshine Girls Attend Annual Session

The 20th Annual Session of the Grand Council, Pythian Sunshine Girls of Ohio, convened in the Imperial Room of the Imperial House, Findlay, Sunday and Monday. Pythian Sunshine Girls include a group of girls, ages 8 through 20, who are affiliated with and sponsored by the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters.

Miss Sheila Huffman of Sunburst Council, Van Buren and grand royal princess, presided during the business session.

Distinguished guests present from the area were Mrs. Everett Peters, past grand chief of Pythian Sisters and grand royal adviser of Pythian Sunshine Girls; Mrs. Grant Thomas, grand chief, Pythian Sisters, and grand director of Sunshine Girls; Mrs. W. E. Reichelderfer, grand manager, Pythian Sisters and deputy state organizer of the Sunshine Girls; Miss Katherine L. Mead, district deputy grand chief, District 2, Pythian Sisters; Mrs. Frank Baum, past district deputy grand chief, District 2; Miss Cheryl Thompson and Mary Lee Baum, both members of Capitol City Council, Columbus, Pythian Sunshine Girls.

Other members of the Pythian Order who were given special recognition are Roswell Clarke, grand chancellor of the grand domain of Ohio, Knights of Pythias, and a grand director of the Sunshine Girls; Frank Hudson, grand treasurer, K of P; Alva Harris, grand secretary, K of P; Mrs. Vernon Latham, grand senior, Pythian Sisters, and a grand councilor of Sunshine Girls; Mrs. Marcella Allebach, grand junior, Pythian Sisters.

Others present representing the Sunshine Girls were: Mr. and Mrs. George Gibbons, life directors, Sunshine Girls.

Mrs. Gibbons is also a past grand chief, Pythian Sisters, and a past supreme royal princess of the Sunshine Girls; Mrs. George Woessner, past supreme royal princess and also past grand chief; Mrs. Ruth Bushong, past grand royal adviser and a past grand chief; Mrs. Andy Bahus, past grand royal adviser, Sunshine Girls; Mrs. William Burrington, grand councilor and a past grand chief.

Mrs. Mabel Downey, deputy state organizer and a past grand chief; Mrs. Paul Jewell, grand councilor and past grand chief; Mrs. Floyd Baughman, past grand royal princess; Mrs. Patricia Clements, past grand royal adviser and present supreme royal prelate; Mrs. Vera Barber from Indiana, supreme charity, Miss Helen Walters, grand royal princess of Indiana; Mrs. Carol Hahn and Mrs. Clara Smith, district deputy grand chiefs of Ohio, Pythian Sisters, and deputy state organizers of Sunshine Girls.

The initiatory ceremony was exemplified by the grand council officers at the afternoon session. In a contest, based on a point system, within the membership of the Sunshine Girls, Everett G. Stuckey of Swanton, Ohio, presented a $25 bond to each of four girls. They were Laura Jean Williams, Swanton; Pam Betts and Kathy Scott, Seven Mile and Cheryl Thompson, Ashville.

Awards were given to Nancy Conley, Debbie Meeks and Janice Conley, Walbridge and Sandra Huffman, Van Buren. Other girls recognized and presented a gift were Kathy Reamsnyder, Terry Glauser and Kathy Sorrell, Walbridge; Marjorie Waalen and Frances MacMurray, Van Buren, and Sue Topel, Swanton.

A Public Speaking Contest sponsored by the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, was held in conjunction with the Grand Council. Three young women and four young men winners of the state contest from the states of New Jersey, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, the District of Columbia and Canada, gave their interpretation of "Echo's from the Past." The first award and a bond was presented to Willie Wilson, the Canadian speaker, while the second place winner was Pat Smith from Stuebenville, Ohio.

This, being the District Contest, the winner will compete on a National level when the Supreme Lodge meets in Chicago in August.

A banquet, served at 6:30, was enjoyed by all present.

Open installation was conducted at the evening session when Miss Edith Ann Downey, Silver Star Council, Akron, was installed a grand royal princess. Her mother, Mrs. Mabel Downey, as the introductory officer, presented Mrs. Peters who served as supreme royal princess and the installing officer.

Other grand council officers installed were Vickie Smith, grand charity, Sunrise Council, Bowling Green; Sandy Mayers, grand friendship, Sol Omega Council, Middletown; Melissa Waite, grand royal prelate, Swan Lake Council, Mentor; Kathy Blake, grand royal recorder, Faithful Council, Swanton; Linda Clements, grand royal exchequer, Sunburst Council, Van Buren; Vickie Sharp, grand royal guide, Capitol City Council, Columbus.

A staff composed of girls from Middletown and Akron also had a part in the installation. They formed a court, each girl extending a spike of yellow gladioli, making an archway under which Miss Downey passed as she was escorted to her station. These girls also executed an intricate and very special drill. Miss Downey has selected as her motto for the coming year, "Hope, Peace and Progress." The colors chosen are yellow and white and her flower, the daisy. A reception honoring Miss Downey followed the installation ceremony.

The next Grand Council Session will be held at the Imperial House, Canton, Ohio, on June 25 and 26, 1971.

A Joy For Sweet Tooth Luscious Louisiana Yams

By ALICE DENHOFF

There is nothing like a little cheesecake to liven up the party — and Golden Louisiana Yam Cheesecake, wow! This toothsome delight is best made the night before so it will be well chilled and firm. The convenience of canned yams makes it easy to prepare. The yams do well as an escort item to a ham steak or Canadian bacon.

GOLDEN LOUISIANA YAM CHEESECAKE

1 2-3 cups graham cracker crumbs (12 crackers)
1-3 cup butter or margarine, melted
2 envelopes (2 tablespoons) unflavored gelatin

1/2 cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
3-4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup milk
2 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
1 can (16 ounces) Louisiana yams, drained and mashed, or 1 1/4 cups mashed cooked Louisiana yams
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Combine crumbs and butter, mixing well. Reserve 1/2 cup for topping. Press remaining crumbs over bottom of an 8 x 3-inch spring form pan. Soften gelatin in water. Blend egg yolks, 1/2 cup sugar, salt and milk. Cover and stir over low heat until thickened.

Add gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add cheese and yams; beat until well blended. Chill until slightly thickened.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add remaining sugar, beating until stiff and glossy. Fold egg whites and cream into yam mixture. Turn into crumb-lined pan and top with reserved crumbs. Chill until firm. Serves 8.

For a good brunch number, serve:

YAMMY APPLE FRITTERS
Salt to taste
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup finely chopped red apples
3 cups mashed canned Louisiana yams, (2 24-ounce cans)
2 eggs
1 tablespoon cold water
3/4 cup flour
Vegetable oil for frying
Stir first 3 ingredients into yams. Combine eggs and water; beat well. Drop yam mixture by tablespoonfuls into egg mixture; then coat with flour.
Heat 1-inch vegetable oil in skillet; fry yam fritters until well browned on all sides. Drain on absorbent paper.
Makes 10 to 12 servings.

HOT SAHARA PUDDING

2 egg yolks, beaten
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 1/2 cups mashed cooked or canned Louisiana yams
1-3 cup chopped dried figs
3 tablespoons dried currants
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1-8 teaspoon cloves
Combine eggs, sugar and salt; blend well. Add remaining ingredients; mix thoroughly. Turn into well-greased 1-quart casserole. Bake in 300 degree F. oven 1 hour or until set. Serve warm.
Serves 4 to 6 and is a good, nourishing, delicious dessert.

Black Artists Necessary Part Of Fight, NAACP Told

CINCINNATI (AP) — Painter Jacob Lawrence has been awarded the Spingarn Medal during a civil rights group meeting in which black artists were described as essential members of the "Negro freedom struggle."

Civil rights leader Bayard Rustin made the presentation Tuesday night during the 61st annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Rustin said that the struggle is not merely of politics but of "an oppressed people to realize their full humanity to make their heritage part of their living experience and ultimately to develop a consciousness of their inviolable dignity."

"If the races in America will ever be truly reconciled to each other, I think it will come about

Pickaway Grange

STAR GRANGE

Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening with Worthy Master Harold Furniss presiding over the business session. The secretary Hlen Hammel read a "Thank You" note from the National Grange Youth contribution.

Mrs. Otha Lewis, chairman of the Home Economics committee announced that Star Grange will help with the Fair Food booth on Wednesday and the men will work on the gates the same day. She also asked for cakes and pies for the fair booth.

Mt. Pleasant Grange will present their traveling program at our next regular meeting July 14th. Plans were discussed for the Grange Fair booth and the program under the direction of the lecturer, Laura Long opened with the thought for the day by Mrs. Francis Furniss.

Mrs. Allen Follrod read "Keeping Step With Dad" and Harold Furniss read, "Your Name." Mrs. Otha Lewis gave The Origin of Father's Day and Mr. Lewis read some Thoughts and Smiles.

The group sang two songs n keeping with Father's Day, "Faith of Our Fathers" and "This Is My Father's World" with Helen Hammel at the piano.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Helen Hammel and Miss Patricia Schleich.

Peace Proposal Not Answered, Sisco Believes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco says the United States refuses to seriously consider public statements by foreign leaders that would seem to indicate America's Middle East peace proposal has been turned down.

"I would say we are awaiting a considered reply to the proposal and we are not taking public reaction at this time as a considered reply," Sisco told the National Foreign Policy Conference in San Francisco.

He made the statement before meeting again today with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin for a "continuation of the bilateral discussions" on the Middle East situation, State Department Press Officer Carl Barch said.

Barch added the United States expects "something more than a public statement" from Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir and added the department has received "no considered reaction or response from any of the parties involved."

Vatican Employees Given Day Off

ROME (AP) — Vatican employees got the day off when Pope Paul VI marked the seventh anniversary of his coronation by canceling or postponing all private audiences Tuesday.

A spokesman said there were hundreds of congratulatory messages from all over the world.

He said picketing has started at 10 sites in Columbus, Ohio and is to get underway soon in Pittsburgh, Chicago, Boston and places in 25 states "where public officials have failed to enforce federally-ordered manning tables."

Former U. S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark was scheduled to speak at the convention today.

FDR Jr., Felicia Sarnoff To Wed

NE WYORK (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Felicia Warburg Sarnoff, who was divorced several months ago from board chairman-president Robert Sarnoff of RCA Corp., planned to be married today.

The late president's son obtained a divorce decree from his second wife Monday in Juarez, Mexico.

Friends said Roosevelt and his bride, daughter of the late financier-philanthropist Paul Felix Warburg, would sail on the liner France Thursday for a honeymoon in Europe.

Brooks-Yates Students Attend Summer Camp

Alfred Heeter Jr., Jack Ball and Jim McKelvey, students of The Brooks-Yates School of Pickaway County's Program of Mental Retardation, have just returned from an 8-day vacation at Camp Courage. This is a Summer Camp at Whitehouse, Ohio, sponsored by Lucas County Assn. for Retarded Children.

One of the purposes of this camp is to enable those attending to broaden understanding and abilities in health habits, recreational interests, socialization, and understanding of people as well as the world of nature. Swimming is one of the activities which has proven most enjoyable. A fully qualified waterfront director provides supervision and instruction.

The three boys returned with several awards and notes of recognition. Heeter was given special commendation for entertaining talent, McKelvey for the one who showed most improvement going through the obstacle course, and Ball for singing enthusiasm.

Black Artists Necessary Part Of Fight, NAACP Told

CINCINNATI (AP) — Painter Jacob Lawrence has been awarded the Spingarn Medal during a civil rights group meeting in which black artists were described as essential members of the "Negro freedom struggle."

Civil rights leader Bayard Rustin made the presentation Tuesday night during the 61st annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Rustin said that the struggle is not merely of politics but of "an oppressed people to realize their full humanity to make their heritage part of their living experience and ultimately to develop a consciousness of their inviolable dignity."

"If the races in America will ever be truly reconciled to each other, I think it will come about in part because the black artist has used such tools as irony, satire, comedy and tragedy to explain the profound complexity of the black experience to all Americans."

Lawrence has spent more than 30 years portraying Negro life and history in America. Besides painting, Lawrence teaches art and is on the permanent teaching staff at Pratt Institute, the New School for Social Research, and the Art Students League. All are in New York.

The medal has been presented annually for the past 55 years to a Negro American for distinguished achievements. It is worn around the neck.

"The Negro artist is the voice of his community," Rustin continued. "And his painting, his writing, his singing, and his dancing ultimately reflect the way his community lives. . . . To this extent his work is a protest against the injustices to which his community has been subjected."

Earlier Tuesday, Herbert Hill, labor director of the NAACP, disclosed plans for a national campaign by the NAACP to stage mass demonstrations to close down public building construction sites. He said the purpose of the protests would be to force integration of unions and government enforcement of federal hiring guidelines.

He said picketing has started at 10 sites in Columbus, Ohio and is to get underway soon in Pittsburgh, Chicago, Boston and places in 25 states "where public officials have failed to enforce federally-ordered manning tables."

Former U. S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark was scheduled to speak at the convention today.

Derby News

Mrs. Georgia Sweet — 869-2462

The first item this week is delayed, because I learned of it too late for last week's news. My apologies to the relatives of John W. Funk, 51, of 242 Haymarket St., West Jefferson, who passed away on June 14. Deepest sympathy is extended to his sister and family, Mrs. Frank Huffer, his brother Howard Funk of Mt. Sterling and other surviving relatives. John was well known here as he was a local boy, born and raised in Derby, and grew up with, among others, my own brothers. He was well liked and will not be forgotten by those who knew him. Services were held at a Columbus funeral home on June 17 with burial in Sunset Rest Cemetery.

The Westfall Wranglers are having a car wash at the Derby Florizer on July 4 with the proceeds going for the Foundation Fund.

To those who may have heard that Kenny Norris was in Mt. Carmel Hospital last week, we saw Kenny on Saturday afternoon and he wants all his friends to know that he is now home recuperating from a hernia operation, and feeling better.

Mrs. Harry (Eva) Clark of near Mt. Sterling called me recently to say that her niece Miss Nancy Neff, who will be 15 on July 7, has flown by jet to Tampa, Fla. where she will spend a month visiting with her aunt and uncle.

Mrs. Margaret Warning of Gahanna has purchased the former Roberts property and will reside there.

Mr. and Mrs. James McPherson and boys Johnny and Shawn, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hughes and girls, Kim Lisa and Joellen vacationed and toured Kentucky and Georgia and Tennessee and stayed at Mediera Beach, St. Petersburg, Florida for six days where they enjoyed swimming in the Gulf, fishing and golfing. They visited Bush Gardens in Tampa, and stayed at Cocoa Beach, then toured Cape Kennedy. While in Florida, they previewed the New Disneyland. On the way home, they stayed at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. When they toured North Carolina they saw the USS North Carolina Memorial Battleship. Then they came home by way of Virginia and West Virginia. All had a good time but everybody was glad to be home.

Of interest to many of our older residents is the passing of Charles Timmons, 79, of Middletown, Ohio who passed away on Friday at the Madison Elms Nursing Home at London. Mr. Timmons, a resident here many years ago leaves many, close friends who are saddened at news of his death.

Friday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie

Sweet were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brown and son Robbe, 4 months, and friend Miss Dale Sanders of Ashville, Ohio.

Your community will be happy to read in next week's news how you enjoyed your Fourth of July holiday weekend. So call me at 869-2462 or leave a note at my door (news must be in before noon Monday.) But above all, have a safe holiday.

Birthdays to date include: Yvonne Lucille Vincent — 31 years, Evelyn Hosler, James Furniss, Carol Steinhauser and my uncle, Glenn Spangler Jr., of Harrisburg, all on June 28, Mike Bayes, Georgia Sweet Mark Clark, Mark Pfeiffer, and Beverly Streitenberger, June 30.

Ellis McGuire, Dave Stewart, Bob Arbogast and Elaine Pfeiffer, July 1; Brook McCoy, July 2; Florence Musseian, July 3; Shirley Wardle, July 4.

Anniversaries, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Neff, June 29.

Apollo 14 Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Extensive changes costing $10 million to $15 million will be made to future Apollo spacecraft before men can be launched to the moon again, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today.

As one result, Apollo 14 will be launched no earlier than next Jan. 31, NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine told the Senate space committee.

This marks a further delay of nearly two months for the Apollo 14 flight scheduled to land three men on the highlands of Fra Mauro. The flight, first was scheduled for October, then was postponed to Dec. 3.

Paine said the Apollo command service module systems will be modified to eliminate potential combustion hazards that caused the explosion on Apollo 13 in April, canceled the moon landing, and endangered the lives of three astronauts.

The major changes will be the addition of a third oxygen tank in the service module; removing unsealed fan motors from the tanks; and limiting electrical wiring within high pressure oxygen systems to stainless steel wire.

Mental Hospital Fire Kills 17; Said Arson

SANO, Japan (AP) — A fire roared through a mental hospital here Monday night, killing 17 of the 183 patients, and police said six other inmates confessed they conspired to start the blaze.

The police said the plotters hoped to escape during the fire.

Apollo 14 Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Extensive changes costing $10 million to $15 million will be made to future Apollo spacecraft before men can be launched to the moon again, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today.

As one result, Apollo 14 will be launched no earlier than next Jan. 31, NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine told the Senate space committee.

This marks a further delay of nearly two months for the Apollo 14 flight scheduled to land three men on the highlands of Fra Mauro. The flight, first was scheduled for October, then was postponed to Dec. 3.

Paine said the Apollo command service module systems will be modified to eliminate potential combustion hazards that caused the explosion on Apollo 13 in April, canceled the moon landing, and endangered the lives of three astronauts.

The major changes will be the addition of a third oxygen tank in the service module; removing unsealed fan motors from the tanks; and limiting electrical wiring within high pressure oxygen systems to stainless steel wire.

Mental Hospital Fire Kills 17; Said Arson

SANO, Japan (AP) — A fire roared through a mental hospital here Monday night, killing 17 of the 183 patients, and police said six other inmates confessed they conspired to start the blaze.

The police said the plotters hoped to escape during the fire.

Night Logging Is Proving A Success In Timberlands

NIGHT LOGGING — Job of sorting and grading freshly cut logs goes on well into the night, thanks to powerful floodlights. The lights are used in logging operations in British Columbia.

By Central Press
VANCOUVER ISLAND, B.C. — Thanks to a bright idea borrowed from the sports world, the crucial task of moving this province's timber crop from mountainside to sawmill need never again be called "on account of darkness."

Using banks of powerful mercury vapor lamps — the same kind used to light sports stadiums — MacMillan Bloedel Limited, one of Canada's foremost forest products companies, kicked off a potential revolution in the logging industry recently by initiating regular night logging at nine of its local timber divisions.

Each night, while the floodlights throw swatches of light across the sleeping mountainsides, the hefty trees felled by daytime logging crews are gathered, hoisted aboard giant trucks and carried to nearby logging streams. Once afloat, the timber is sorted according to size and grade by tiny "dozer boats" churning beneath more banks of 1,000-watt lamps.

Why log at night? MacMillan Bloedel logging manager James Trebett says its strictly a matter of economics.

"Logging equipment is expensive," Trebett explained. "For example, a single grapple yarder costs as much as $165,000 to $200,000 while a big logging truck runs between $70,000 and $100,000. This means that we sometimes have $250,000 in equipment tied up at each of several logging sites."

"With that kind of investment, it is essential that our expensive gear be in use as many hours as possible each day." Trebett called the night logging innovation a resounding success. The company's Cameron Division, near Port Alberni, is one area where night logging is already a well established routine.

At 5:30 p.m., when the division's 70-man nighttime shift reports, the darkening woodlands once again resound

Nixon Opens Meat Import Door Wider

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has opened the door a little wider for increased imports of meat, but the unprecedented move is not expected to alter hamburger prices much.

About 78 million pounds of additional meat will be allowed in the United States this year under the action announced Tuesday by Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin.

Cattlemen were pleased the increase was not larger and Hardin himself said the extra meat would do little to ease retail prices for consumers.

Most of the imported meat is beef from Australia and New Zealand. A large share of the increase already has arrived in the United States, Hardin told a news conference.

The administration had been under pressure for many months from consumer interests to make more imported meat available to help head off the kind of retail price crunch that hit housewives last summer.

Government statisticians say the average over-the-counter price of hamburger was 66.3 cents a pound in April and 66.7 cents in May. The price was 61.2 cents in May 1969.

But Hardin said the boosts in meat imports just won't be enough to stem any increase in consumer costs.

Teresa Brewer Reports Theft

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Teresa Brewer says somebody stole a diamond ring and a gold necklace worth $5,300 from her hotel suite.

Miss Brewer told the sheriff's office Tuesday she last saw the jewels in the suite at the Frontier Hotel, where she is appearing, on Sunday night.

Cleveland Transit System Struck

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A wildcat strike by drivers shut down the Cleveland Transit System today, leaving scores of thousands without public transportation in Ohio's largest city.

The strike began at midnight when drivers began calling in sick following expiration of their old contract with the city utility. CTS said carloads of striking drivers halted buses making early morning runs and none of its equipment was operating by the morning rush hour.

Cleveland buses carry an average of 220,000 persons a day. Rapid transit lines carry an average of 60,000, including 4,000 persons who normally use a line linking Cleveland Hopkins International Airport to the downtown area.

Birchers Win Posts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Republican members of the ultraconservative John Birch Society were elected Tuesday to fill unexpired terms in Southern California Congressional districts.

In the 35th District centered in Orange County, State Sen. John Schmitz, 39, the only acknowledged Birch member in the California legislature, defeated his Democratic opponent, David Hartman, a political science professor, by more than a 2-1 margin.

In the 24th District John Rousset, 42, former public relations man for the Birch society, led by a similar margin in early returns over Myrie Evers, 37, widow of Medgar Evers, the slain black civil rights leader from Mississippi.

With all 312 precincts reporting, Rousset's unofficial margin over Mrs. Evers was 62,558 to 29,121.

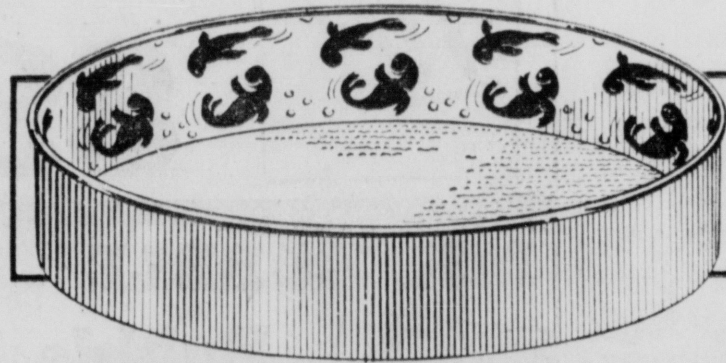

ONE HALF HOUR after they delivered their own 8-pound, 8-ounce son at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Gross pose proudly. Gross, a Chicago attorney, sued for and won the right to be at the delivery after he and his wife had trained for the event. A Chicago Board of Health rule had kept the father from the delivery room at the birth of their first child.

Night Logging Is Proving A Success In Timberlands

NIGHT LOGGING — Job of sorting and grading freshly cut logs goes on well into the night, thanks to powerful floodlights. The lights are used in logging operations in British Columbia.

VANCOUVER ISLAND, B.C. — Thanks to a bright idea borrowed from the sports world, the crucial task of moving this province's timber crop from mountainside to sawmill need never again be called "on account of darkness."

Using banks of powerful mercury vapor lamps — the same kind used to light sports stadiums — MacMillan Bloedel Limited, one of Canada's foremost forest products companies, kicked off a potential revolution in the logging industry recently by initiating regular night logging at nine of its local timber divisions.

"With that kind of investment, it is essential that our expensive gear be in use as many hours as possible each day."

Trebett called the night logging innovation a resounding success. The company's Cameron Division, near Port Alberni, is one area where night logging is already a well established routine.

At 5:30 p.m., when the division's 70-man nighttime shift reports, the darkening woodlands once again resound with the roar of truck engines, the whine of rock drills, the almost unnoticed beeping of electronic signals to yarders and loaders, and, down in the logging streams, the growl of dozer boats and "boom scooters" sorting logs.

As dusk falls photoelectric cells automatically turn the network of floodlights on and the nighttime logging party shifts into high gear. At the logging stream alone there are 17 banks of bright floodlights, three of them mounted on floating rafts, that bring visibility on the busy waterway to nearly daylight levels.

Production under night logging conditions is only slightly short of that achieved during the day, according to company spokesmen.

"The only problem we had involved our boom men (who sort and mark floating logs for the dozer boat operators)," said Trebett. "They found it difficult at first to identify various timber species under artificial light. But with experience and time, they gradually adjusted to the new conditions."

Cooler Air Heads East To Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cooler weather spilled out of the Rockies and onto the Great Plains today, but the season's first widespread outbreak of heat and humidity hung on in most of the nation's eastern half.

Temperatures in the 40s and 50s were common overnight in the northern and central Rockies, and there were occasional 30s. The Weather Bureau indicated the northern edge of the cool front might reach the northern Great Lakes by early Thursday.

Warm and muggy air sweeping northward out of the Gulf of Mexico held temperatures in the 70s and 80s during the night as far north as Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Readings in the 90s were common Tuesday throughout the Midwest and in most of the Plains and Southeast.

Thundershowers broke out as the cooler weather trickled onto the Plains. Hail pelted an area near Boulder, Colo. Winds up to 46 miles an hour accompanied a storm at Norfolk, Neb. Rainfall generally was less than half an inch.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 29 at Bozeman, Mont., to 89 at Phoenix.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In the span of four seasons the made-for-television movie has progressed from a gamble to the medium's major vehicle for drama.

This past season "My Sweet Charlie" was the most popular movie on television and one of its stars, Patty Duke, and its writers collected Emmys. In all, it received eight nominations.

ABC's 90-minute Move of the Week was one of the most popular new programs last year and a few weeks ago the network organized a unit to produce two-hour movies.

CBS has its own Cinema Center 100 turning out movies for the home screen.

And Universal Studios, which produced the first World Premieres for NBC in 1966, will turn out approximately 15 this coming season.

"I think we do the best drama, not knocking the series, in the two-hour format. You've got time to build a character or a scene," said Stanley Robertson, NBC's director of motion pictures for television.

"The other studios laughed at the idea of original movies, but Universal came to us with the idea, put up the deficit financing and gambled on it."

Robertson, believed to be the highest black executive in the industry, works closely with the studio in selecting ideas, preparing scripts and choosing stars.

"You develop a gut instinct for which star is right for a part," he said. "And you rely on research. You've got to have the box office appeal and our research department is constantly running surveys on stars."

World Premiere is now NBC's primary means of developing pilots for future series. "The Senator" segment of "The Bold Ones" and the four mini-series

Hogg Is Named To Peerage Again

LONDON (AP) — Quintin Hogg, who once surrendered a peerage because it was a political handicap, has become a lord for the second time.

He signed on at the House of Lords Tuesday as Lord Hailsham of St. Marylebone, a life title created for him by Queen Elizabeth II after the new Conservative government selected him as its lord chancellor, or head of the British judiciary.

Hailsham, now 62, gave up the hereditary title of Viscount Lord Hailsham in 1963 when he was trying to win the Conservative party leadership.

Solons Ready Vote Today On Asian War Resolutions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces mounted a final assault on the Cooper-Church amendment today as the Senate wound up its eight-week debate on Cambodia.

They took their final stand behind two amendments—one by Assistant GOP Leader Robert P. Griffin, the other by Washington Democrat Henry M. Jackson—aimed at easing Cooper-Church's ban on future U.S. military activity in Cambodia.

After the Senate finished work on the Cambodia proposals, the schedule called for final action on the foreign military sales bill, which Cooper-Church amended.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., a leading administration spokesman, conceded before today's vote there was little point in trying for outright defeat of the amendment sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Dole said in an interview the amendment apparently would pass. He said a big push for defeat might at best bring a close vote for passage that would "be blown up into a big victory for them and a defeat for the administration."

Dole said Cooper-Church had been made more palatable by several amendments approved since debate began shortly after President Nixon announced April 30 that U.S. troops were being sent into Cambodia.

Republicans also succeeded in blocking passage of Cooper-Church until after the President finished removing all American troops from Cambodia Monday, one day before his promised deadline.

The end of the long debate coincided with Nixon's report on the Cambodian operation, which he said was intended to clean out enemy sanctuaries and speed withdrawal from Vietnam.

Senators Are Split On Veto Override

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's two U. S. senators, Democrat Stephen M. Young and Republican William B. Saxbe, voted with the majority Tuesday as the Senate adopted 58-37 the Cooper-Church amendment to restrict future U. S. military operations in Cambodia.

Young and Saxbe also joined the majority in voting down an amendment which would have eased restrictions in the Cooper-Church measure.

Griffin told the Senate Monday his amendment to permit U.S. support of foreign advisers in Cambodia "concerns the very heart of the Nixon doctrine."

"The purpose of this amendment is to make clear that the United States would not be enjoined by the Church-Cooper language from assisting non-Communist nations in Asia which stand prepared to cooperate in lending support to a neighboring country in dire need."

Cooper, however, said there was nothing in his amendment "that prohibits any other country, or any group of nationals of another country, going to the assistance of the present government of Cambodia, if they desire to do so."

"What is prohibited by the Cooper-Church amendment," he went on, "is the employment of other countries and their nationals by the United States for service in the war in Cambodia."

The Jackson amendment would insert the word "direct" into a Cooper-Church clause on air support, making it prohibit "any combat activity in the air above Cambodia in direct support of Cambodian forces."

3 Ohioans Are Drowned

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three Southwestern Ohio residents have lost their lives in separate drowning incidents.

Victor Iles, 18, of West Chester in Butler County drowned in the Little Miami River Tuesday at nearby Fosters after he had gone swimming with friends.

Herbie Nash, 11, of Higginsport drowned in the Ohio River Tuesday near that Brown County town after the wake of a boat pulled him underwater. He had been holding onto the edge of a boat dock and watching companions swim.

Twenty-seven-year-old Charles Hansel of Hamilton drowned Tuesday night as his runabout struck a line of barges moored along the Ohio River at nearby Cleves.

All three bodies were recovered.

Despite Progress, Soviet Life Still Dreary

EDITOR'S NOTE—William L. Ryan, foreign affairs specialist for The Associated Press, writes here the impressions he drew from 10,000 miles of travel across the Soviet Union, encompassing six different areas. He previously was in Russia in 1953 and 1960. Ryan is fluent in Russian and thus able to talk to the man in the street and plumb his underlying attitudes.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

MOSCOW (AP) — For one who saw the Soviet Union in the last days of the Stalin era, a fresh visit creates an immediate impression of all-around betterment of the average Russian's life. Yet much of the dreary side of Soviet life has resisted change. That is equally striking.

As was to be expected in view of the Communist party's long-term policy, the "velikii stroiki"—the great projects such as hydroelectric stations, dams, and the huge heavy industrial installations cherished by the party's planners—have been multiplying all along. In addition there are many new airports, hotel buildings, glistening business buildings of steel, aluminum and glass; many new apartment buildings and new roads leading into Soviet cities.

There are more and bigger stores. At first glance there seem to be more and better goods in the stores, and in some respects this is true. It also appears that there are more people with money to spend in the stores.

However, behind all the outward glitter there is much that is the same as ever before. A prolonged walk in any one of the cities now open to foreigners suggests that the consumer is not much better off than was his father. It suggests that the party isn't particularly interested in the consumer or in anything much besides retaining its own position as a ruling elite.

Goods in the stores remain mostly shoddy and outrageously expensive. Soviet production for the consumer side still strikes the Westerner as scandalous for a nation as fantastically rich as the Soviet Union in all manner of resources.

There is no shortage of wealth and skills for whatever helps construct centralized power, for the military, for the space program, for air communications, for heavy industry. Little remains for the consumer, and on that side the tendency still is to polish the visible brass and forget the rest. To the Westerner's eye, the consumer economy remains a severe indictment of the Soviet system.

So enormously rich is the U.S.S.R. that it might long ago have surpassed the United States in many fields, but chances that it will even catch up in the foreseeable future are extremely dim. Moscow is unlikely to risk the measures that would be necessary to take advantage of the opportunities.

The measures would include releasing the economy from restraints which have been imposed upon it over the years, and permitting a large degree of local discretion, initiative and autonomy.

Moscow is unlikely to do this because such things threaten to erode centralized authority. Without an extraordinarily strong hand at the helm, the consumers in another sort of economy might easily run away with the show. Thus, the prospect is for continued improvising within the present framework. This means the economy must continue to be plagued by dogmatic and outdated theories.

On the plus side, more Russians are well dressed and more seem generally much better off than they were in the last days of Stalin. They are still far away from Western standards but there is not much yardstick available to Soviet citizens for making comparisons. By and large they seem to feel their system does well by them.

The visitor hears little that would reflect directly against the Communist party and its leadership. The government says real wages have gone up, meaning that an average wage of about 120 rubles monthly plus fringe benefits is worth a good deal more in terms of purchasing power than it was years ago.

The Russians say the ruble is worth $1.11, but it sells on the black market often at a tenth of that.

A visitor can hear, if he listens attentively, expressions of impatience, of restiveness, of dissent, but from a relatively small element which objects to political suppression of all but orthodox views.

He can hear protest, too, from Jews who report harsh treatment more and more frequently now because of the intensification of the Middle East conflict and the Soviet involvement on the Arab side.

He can hear it sometimes among young university students.

The dissent, while Moscow reacts angrily and often harshly to it, is a long distance from any real threat to the Soviet system as it operates today. From what one hears said by young men and women coming through party schools and aiming at careers, the Communist bureaucracy would not seem to have too much to worry about.

On the whole, the ordinary Soviet citizen appears to be a patient, plodding and uncomplaining member of what his leaders like to call "the toiling masses." He can see around him a good deal more quantity than his fathers did, even if he sees little change in quality. He doesn't have much means for measuring quality, anyway.

Firemen Go On Strike At Newark

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Newark firemen went on strike Tuesday night after negotiations with a City Council committee over fringe benefits ended in a deadlock.

About 30 firemen set up picket lines outside the central fire station despite a warning by Fire Chief Eugene Mallory that strikers would be fired.

Four officers, including the chief, and two firemen remained on duty. There are 64 men on the force.

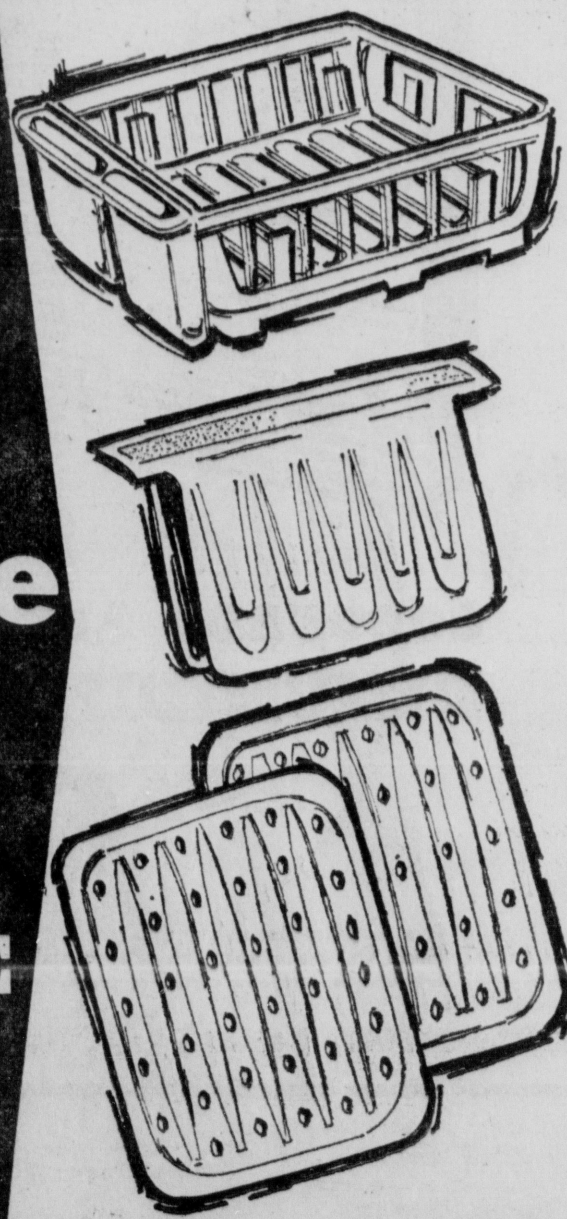

Negotiators met for several hours Tuesday night without reaching agreement on demands by Local 109 of the International Association of Firefighters for each cash pay for holidays, an increased clothing allowance, 40-hour week and a wage re-opener clause.

No further talks are scheduled.

Meanwhile, wage negotiations for all city employees were scheduled to begin today. Police and other city employees, except firemen, earlier approved a fringe benefits package and Council, is expected to act on that at its meeting next Monday night.

The dissent, while Moscow reacts angrily and often harshly to it, is a long distance from any real threat to the Soviet system as it operates today. From what one hears said by young men and women coming through party schools and aiming at careers, the Communist bureaucracy would not seem to have too much to worry about.

On the whole, the ordinary Soviet citizen appears to be a patient, plodding and uncomplaining member of what his leaders like to call "the toiling masses." He can see around him a good deal more quantity than his fathers did, even if he sees little change in quality. He doesn't have much means for measuring quality, anyway.

Clarke Is Elected To Gas Firm Post

NEW YORK (AP) — B. J. Clarke of Columbus, Ohio, has been elected a director and senior vice president of the Columbia Gas System, Inc. effective July 1. It was announced Tuesday by C. E. Loomis, board chairman.

Since 1967, Clarke, 49, has been chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., and two other Columbus-based subsidiaries, the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Como Is Pleased With Reception

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Perry Como says he's highly pleased with his reception in his first night club appearance in 26 years.

The 58-year-old singer, who is drawing big crowds at the International Hotel, told newsmen: "Oh, I was nervous and hesitant. It's been so long. I wondered. But I wanted to be active and prove I can still do it. I just never knew the response would be this ridiculously terrific."

Minis Shortened
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The owner of a dry cleaning shop in Louisville obviously doesn't believe the mini-skirt is on its way in. He has a sign in his front window: "Expert Alterations — Mini Skirts Shortened."

Firemen Go On Strike At Newark

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Newark firemen went on strike Tuesday night after negotiations with a City Council committee over fringe benefits ended in a deadlock.

About 30 firemen set up picket lines outside the central fire station despite a warning by Fire Chief Eugene Mallory that strikers would be fired.

Four officers, including the chief, and two firemen remained on duty. There are 64 men on the force.

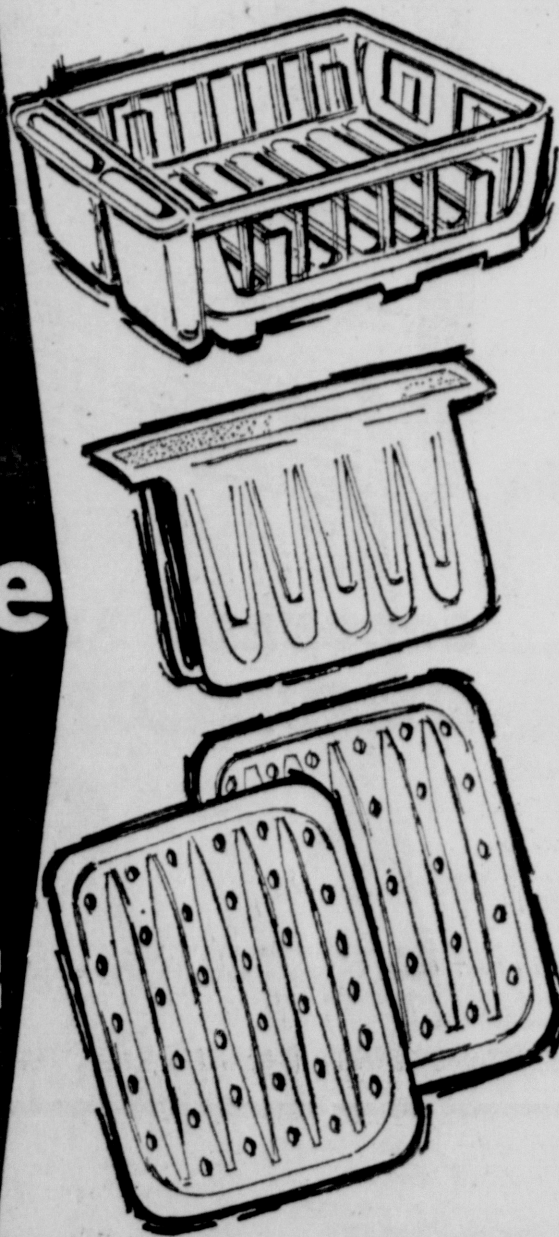

Negotiators met for several hours Tuesday night without reaching agreement on demands by Local 109 of the International Association of Firefighters for each cash pay for holidays, an increased clothing allowance, 40-hour week and a wage re-opener clause.

No further talks are scheduled.

Meanwhile, wage negotiations for all city employees were scheduled to begin today. Police and other city employees, except firemen, earlier approved a fringe benefits package and Council is expected to act on that at its meeting next Monday night.

In addition to magic tricks, Quacky will take the ordinary balloons and turn them into assorted animal likenesses for the delight of children.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official weather bureau summary for Ohio:

A slight chance of scattered thundershowers will develop over the state today with the possibility of rain increasing by Thursday.

High pressure centered over the Southeastern states continued to hold hot and humid air over Ohio today. By Friday drier air is forecast to move across the state from the west.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Thursday mostly sunny hot and humid with a chance of scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers. High temperatures 90 to 95 except northeast. Tonight fair and warm with the low 70 to 75.

NORTHWEST INLAND, WEST LAKE SHORE, WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST — Thursday mostly sunny hot and humid with a chance of scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers. The high temperatures 90 to 95. Fair and warm to night with the low 70 to 75. The outlook for Friday fair, warm and less humid.

Druggist Says Cleveland Shooting Climax Of Pressure

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A druggist whose peace warrants led to a shootout Monday between police and tenants of an East Side apartment building told the Plain Dealer that he was being harassed in an apparent attempt to obtain funds from Cleveland, NOW!

The shootout occurred when police attempted to deliver the peace warrants signed by druggist Thomas Avery.

Police filed charges Tuesday against Fred Clark, 20, and Richard M. Dowell, 21, both of Cleveland, and Curtis Johnson, 24, of East Cleveland, for shooting with intent to kill in the incident.

Clark and Patrolman Heinrich Ortog, 32, were wounded in the shootout.

Avery said he was told that some militants were harassing him in an effort to obtain part of the $35,000 in Cleveland, NOW! Funds being sought by the Kinsman Multiservice Center Corp. for summer youth programs.

The corporation, which offers community services, is headed by Avery.

He told the Plain Dealer that a member of the corporation board allegedly told the militants they should get the money and Avery was in a position to give it to them.

Avery said six weeks of harassment by the militants included threats to shoot him.

Spokesmen for the Ohio Chapter of the National Committee to Combat Fascism denied in a news conference Tuesday that they had demanded any money from Avery.

They said the police raid on their headquarters in the apartment building was a massive military assault. The committee is alleged to be an arm of the Black Panther party.

Avery, who is under police surveillance, said he does not intend to reopen his drug store. He has removed much of his $10,000 worth of stock from the store, which has been looted since the shooting incident.

Expect 560-660

Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents over the Fourth of July weekend may claim between 560 and 660 lives, the National Safety Council has estimated.

The period covered by the estimate released Tuesday extends from 6 p.m. local time Thursday, July 2, through midnight Sunday, July 5. Although the period runs 78 hours, it is considered a three-day holiday.

The Independence Day weekend extended over an identical time period last year. The Associated Press counted 611 traffic deaths then.

Cincy Transit Fares Increased

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fares went up a nickel today for all persons riding Cincinnati Transit Inc. buses.

On Tuesday, the transit company and city officials completed an agreement under which adult fares would be increased from 35 to 40 cents and students fares from 30 to 35.

The bus company had proposed that student fares be hiked to the same level as adult fares beginning today but they will not go up to 40 cents until Jan. 1, 1972.

Man Is Indicted In Threat Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A federal grand jury here indicted a 49-year-old Lake County man Tuesday for allegedly threatening the life of President Nixon last September.

Edmund H. Roland, who is free on $10,000 bond is accused of making two calls to the White House on Sept. 28, according to U.S. Attorney Robert W. Jones. One call was made from Eastlake, and one from Willowick, Jones said.

Roland allegedly called the White House to complain about his son being sent to Vietnam.

Kiwanis Tops Lindsey, 7-2

Kiwanis topped Lindsey, 7-2, in Babe Ruth League action Tuesday night to give the Kiwanis "9" their second win of the season in five starts.

Craig Allison tagged a triple and Paul England nailed a double for the Lindsey squad but to no avail as the winners garnered eight hits and scored three runs in the fourth stanza and four in the sixth.

Don Valentine was the winning pitcher. He allowed four hits, walked none, and fanned 14. Doug Spangler took the loss on the mound. He allowed eight counters, walked 10, and whiffed seven.

1st National Upsets Dairy In LL Minors

First National Bank upset the frontrunning Blue Ribbon Dairy squad, 4-2, in Little League Minor action Tuesday night. In another battle, Savings Bank outlasted Second National, 7-6, in a seven inning slugfest.

Joe Mogan hurled the upset for the First Bankers fanning five batters. Mark Skinner took the first loss of the season on the hill for the Dairymen, fanning seven.

Tom McGuire and Denny Williams tallied doubles for the winners while Randy Neff nailed a three-bagger and Glen McFarland hit a double for the losers.

The Dairymen connected on eight hits and marked their two in the fifth inning. The Bankers, counting seven hits, scored one in each of the first and second innings and two in the fourth for the win.

Hawks, Coke Win In LL Major Loop

The Herald Hawks topped Bingman's, 6-2 and Coca-Cola edged the Elks, 5-1, in Little League Major action Tuesday night.

Tom England banged a homer, Mike Malone tagged a three-baser and George Wagner and Bryan Edgington nailed two-basers to give the Hawks the win.

Brent Mancini suffered the loss on the hill allowing six hits, one walk and fanning six.

In the Coca-Cola win, Biff Bumgarner was the winning pitcher. He allowed six hits, one walk and made seven strike outs.

Gary Combs blasted two out of three attempts at the plate with a triple and a double for the winners. Gary Wolford nailed three for three for the Elks with a triple.

Randy Cradlebaugh was the losing hurler for the Elks "9." He gave up nine hits and two walks while fanning six.

K Of C Track Meet At End Of Trail

BOSTON (AP) — The Knights of Columbus indoor track meet is ending its 44-year history because of financial problems.

The event, held in Boston Garden, has drawn fewer and fewer track fans over the past few years.

A related event, the Boston Athletic Association schoolboy games, traditionally held on the afternoon of the K of C meet, also will be retired.

Steve Renko believes in taking his milestones in a logical order. So he'll concentrate on getting his first major league shutout before he thinks about his first no-hitter.

Renko mowed down the first 19 batters in order before surrendering a hit Tuesday night and settled for a three-hitter, pitching Montreal to an 8-1 victory over Philadelphia.

"I was more disappointed at losing the shutout than the no-hitter," said the logical pitcher. "I haven't had a shutout in the major leagues."

If Renko was disappointed it was nothing compared to the 51,050 fans who packed Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium only to see Atlanta spoil the ballpark's debut by thumping the Reds 8-2.

Brewers Turn Back Angels, 5-4

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Danny Walton can't do enough for the left field bleacherites in Milwaukee's County Stadium but you won't find the California Angels among his fan club members.

Walton destroyed the Angels Tuesday night with a game-tying home run in the third inning and a tie-breaking two-run shot in the eighth that powered the Milwaukee Brewers to a 5-4 victory.

The Angels dropped four games behind Minnesota at the American League West when Rick Renick's pinch hit grand slam homer rallied the Twins to an 8-5 triumph over Kansas City.

Elsewhere in the AL, Baltimore downed Cleveland 4-2, Detroit prepped for Denny McLain's return tonight with a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

Twelve Trotters Entered In Scioto Challenge Stakes

Marlu Pride, winner of the $111,000 Dexter Cup at Roosevelt Raceway two weeks ago, leads a huge field of twelve 3-year-old trotters into Scioto Downs Thursday night for the $13,000 Challenge Stakes.

Trained and driven by Herve Filion, the nation's leading race winning driver for the past two years, Marlu Pride, a son of Hickory Pride, soundly whipped a full field of Hambletonian eligibles in the Dexter to throw the pre-Hambletonian picture completely out of focus. Owned by the Marlu Stable of Purchase, New York, Marlu Pride set the national season record for 3 year-old trotters over a half miletrack with the victory in 2:01 3/5, and he is not eligible to the Hambletonian.

Filion, the reinsman from Montreal, Quebec, Canada, set the all-time record for wins in a single season with 407 victories in 1968, and last year he out-distanced Del Insko with 394 wins.

Thursday's appearance for Filion will be the extreme test for his charge, Marlu Pride. The Billy Houghton Stable has an entry in Quaker Hill, owned by Dr. John Jackman of Columbus, and Manana, a son of Floris.

PARIS Air, owned by Garrett Claypool of Columbus, will have the services of Howard Beissinger, the Hamilton, Ohio sulky master who won trotting's triple crown last year with the great Lindy's Pride.

Paris Air has had great success at Scioto. Last year he won both the 2 yr-old trotting division of the Challenge Stakes, and the juvenile trotting division of the Scarlet and Gray Cup Series.

The "dark-horse" entry in Thursday's feature is Witch of Endor, owned by Harold Perrant of Flemingsburg, Kentucky. Last year, this daughter of Caleb earned a time trial record of 2:02 2/5 at Lexington, Kentucky.

Hugh Parshall, son of the late great Doc Parshall and brother to a Scioto favorite Marv Parshall, will take the sophomore Floris speedster, Flower Child, postward boasting a record of 2:05 over a half mile track.

Gene Riegler has the speedy Drew Hanover, and Dick Buxton will handle the reins on Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday night, St. Louis tagged Chicago with its 12th straight loss, 5-4, New York hung on to edge Pittsburgh 7-6, San Diego nipped San Francisco 3-2 and Houston downed Los Angeles 6-2.

Renko, a hard-throwing right-hander, was perfect for 6 1/3 innings, overpowering Philadelphia with a mixture of fastballs and sliders.

The spell was broken by Oscar Gamble, who outlegged an infield hit to second baseman Marv Staehle.

Mack Jones handled the bulk of the Expo offense, driving in three runs with two homers. Renko's shutout went down the drain in the eighth when the Phillies got their other two hits.

Hank Aaron inaugurated Cincinnati's new ball park with a two-run homer in the first inning and Rico Carty added a three-run shot in the third to help Atlanta whip the Reds.

Pat Jarvis rode the heavy hitting to his eighth victory, scattering nine hits and ending Cincinnati's winning streak at five games.

The Mets came from behind with a four-run sixth inning to whip Pittsburgh as Jerry Koosman evened his record at 4-4.

Tommie Agee cracked his 17th homer of the year for New York and 11th this month, setting a Mets' club record. Al Oliver and Willie Stargell homered for the Pirates with Stargell's two-run shot knocking out Koonsman in the ninth. Ron Raynor came on to retire the last three batters and save the victory.

Bob Gibson overcame a shaky start and won his ninth straight game as the Cardinals came from behind to knock off the reeling Cubs.

Gibson was tagged for a three-run homer by Billy Williams in the first inning but hung on. Later he tagged a homer of his own and tied the game with a single in the seventh. An inning later, Jose Cardenal cracked a pinch homer that doomed the Cubs to another loss. Chicago hasn't won a game since June 20.

Home runs by Bob Barton and Steve Huntz moved San Diego past San Francisco as the Padres beat Gaylord Perry for the first time ever.

Huntz shot cracked a 2-2 tie in the seventh as the Padres snapped an eight game losing streak. Barton's homer had followed a single by Huntz in the fourth, giving San Diego the early lead against Perry, who had beaten the Padres seven straight times. Bob Heise homered for San Francisco.

Denny Lemaster drove in three runs with a homer and single and pitched six innings of Houston's victory over Los Angeles.

Lemaster tagged a bases-loaded single in the second and then cracked his first homer of the year in the sixth as Houston built an early lead.

Andy Kosco homered for LA and the Dodgers knocked Lemaster out in the seventh but airtight relief work by Jack DiLauro and Fred Gladding preserved the victory.

Morris Pitches
No Hitter For LE
Derick Morris hurled no-hit ball to pace the Logan Elm squad to a 14-1 win over Zane Trace in a Tri-County Pony League fray.

He walked five and fanned 13 as he fashioned his masterpiece. Trace came up with its lone run in the seventh when a couple of walks and a ground out plated a tally.

Mark Justus led the 18 hit attack for the boys from Logan Elm rapping a homer, double and single.

Gary Francis added three hits, Mike Holbrook and Dan Valentine had two hits apiece and Marty Fullen contributed a double for the winners.

Kiwanis Tops Lindsey, 7-2

Kiwanis topped Lindsey, 7-2, in Babe Ruth League action Tuesday night to give the Kiwanis "9" their second win of the season in five starts.

Craig Allison tagged a triple and Paul England nailed a double for the Lindsey squad but to no avail as the winners garnered eight hits and scored three runs in the fourth stanza and four in the sixth.

Don Valentine was the winning pitcher. He allowed four hits, walked none, and fanned 14. Doug Spangler took the loss on the mound. He allowed eight counters, walked 10, and whiffed seven.

1st National Upsets Dairy In LL Minors

First National Bank upset the frontrunning Blue Ribbon Dairy squad, 4-2, in Little League Minor action Tuesday night. In another battle, Savings Bank outlasted Second National, 7-6, in a seven inning slugfest.

Joe Mogan hurled the upset for the First Bankers fanning five batters. Mark Skinner took the first loss of the season on the hill for the Dairyemen, fanning seven.

Tom McGuire and Denny Williams tallied doubles for the winners while Randy Neff nailed a three-bagger and Glen McFarland hit a double for the losers.

The Dairyemen connected on eight hits and marked their two in the fifth inning. The Bankers, counting seven hits, scored one in each of the first and second innings and two in the fourth for the win.

Hawks, Coke Win In LL Major Loop

The Herald Hawks topped Bingman's, 6-2 and Coca-Cola edged the Elks, 5-1, in Little League Major action Tuesday night.

Tom England banged a homer, Mike Malone tagged a three-bagger and George Wagner and Bryan Edgington nailed two-basers to give the Hawks the win.

England was the winning hurler. He fanned 13 batters, walked three and allowed no hits.

Brent Mancini suffered the loss on the hill allowing six hits, one walk and fanning six.

In the Coca-Cola win, Biff Bumgarner was the winning pitcher. He allowed six hits, one walk and made seven strike outs.

Gary Combs blasted two out of three attempts at the plate with a triple and a double for the winners. Gary Wolford nailed three for three for the Elks with a triple.

Randy Cradlebaugh was the losing hurler for the Elks "9." He gave up nine hits and two walks while fanning six.

K Of C Track Meet At End Of Trail

BOSTON (AP) — The Knights of Columbus indoor track meet is ending its 44-year history because of financial problems.

The event, held in Boston Garden, has drawn fewer and fewer track fans over the past few years.

A related event, the Boston Athletic Association schoolboy games, traditionally held on the afternoon of the K of C meet, also will be retired.

With Phil Siebold in the sulky, the locally owned pacer toured the mile in 2:04.1 for its first win of the season.

Boog Powell drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Don Buford also hit one out as Dave McNally breezed to his third win of the season over Cleveland and the Orioles' seventh without a loss.

The Tigers did in the Yankees with a five-run two-out burst in the third and five double plays. Pitcher Les Cain started the fireworks with his first major league homer, Mickey Stanley followed with his third of the season and, following Dick McAuliffe's single, Al Kaline cracked No. 10.

All the long balls came off Fritz Peterson and the Tigers immediately added a run off Ron Klimkowski on Gene Michael's two-base error and Jim Nicely Nicely. Fred Hess will go with Time Traffic, and Jim Eades has Til Dark to round out the closely matched field of twelve.

Most Pro Gridders Like Mod-Sod

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm not crazy about playing on artificial turf," says linebacker George Webster of the Houston Oilers. "You don't get dirty. I like to get dirty when I'm playing. It gives me a feeling of doing something out there."

That's the light side of the debate over artificial turf's role in the future of football, both college and professional variety.

But there is the serious side too, most concisely expressed by Bill Orwig, athletic director of Indiana University, who says:

"We're delighted to be able to put in a surface that will do away with periodical $30,000 resodding jobs, eliminate costly maintenance and reduce knee and ankle injuries."

And between the light side and the serious side, there is the realistic side too—as put by a spokesman for TCU:

"It's just the coming thing."

Powell And Baltimore Top Struggling Indians, 4-2

BALTIMORE (AP) — Boog Powell didn't like what he was seeing, and neither did Manager Earl Weaver. Now, the opposition might not like Baltimore's new-look line-up.

Moved into the third slot in the batting order, with the menacing bat of Frank Robinson looming behind, Powell rapped two homers Tuesday night as the Orioles beat Cleveland 4-2 to end a three-game losing streak.

"Nobody was pitching to Booger," Weaver said of Baltimore's slugging first baseman, who entered the game with only one homer in his last 65 times at bat.

"Now, if a pitcher gets behind 2-and-0, and sees Frank in the batting circle, Weaver said, 'Boog might get a couple extra good pitches.'"

Powell singled in his first trip

against Cleveland rookie Steve Dunning, rapped a two-run homer in the third inning and a solo blast in the fifth brought Boog's homer total to 20 for the season.

In addition to leading the Orioles in homers, Powell also sets the pace with 53 walks, 58 runs batted in and 83 hits. His .317 average ranks just below Robinson's .321.

The Orioles had lost five of their last seven games, but their seventh consecutive victory over the Indians this season increased to three games Baltimore's lead over New York in the American League's Eastern Division.

Dave McNally, who yielded nine hits and walked five, struggled on a humid night but hurled a complete game and brought his record to 12-5.

Dave Pearson Not Happy With Daytona Speedway

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Speed's the game at Daytona International Speedway. To graying David Pearson, speed is a money-making game. But the 35-year-old driving ace had rather do his 200-m.p.h. thing elsewhere.

Doing an average of 188.750 miles an hour isn't bad.

Yet, Pearson isn't at all happy on this steeply-banked course that covers 2.5 miles.

"Drivers don't like this race track," he said in an interview. "If any of them tell you the truth, they will say they don't like to run here."

"I'm not scared," Pearson added quickly. "If I have control of the throttle, I'm not going to be scared. And, I'm not going to drive if I'm scared."

He gets uneasy on the 31-degree banks at both ends of the speedway. Pearson says the Ford feels as though it's about to leave the ground when topping 180 miles an hour.

He looked at the entry list, which had some unfamiliar names, and liked things even less.

"It's bad enough," he said, "to move up from modified to Grand National on the short track. This is a bad race track to try in your first time."

Anyone not familiar with his record might be surprised that the 35-year-old Spartanburg, S.C., veteran won NASCAR's Grand National title, including 1968-69. He won the Firecracker 400 in 1961, has been no worse than fourth since 1967 and was second in last February's Daytona 500.

Pearson and Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., said the Dodge-Plymouth course here have an edge because of the famed rear stabilizer wing and turned-down nose. Yet, Cale's Mercury was fastest in practice 190.162 m.p.h. and Pearson's Ford next at 188.750.

U.S. Women's Open To Start Thursday

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — The world's top women golfers go to war Thursday against par and Oklahoma's wind and heat as the U.S. Women's Open tees off at Muskogee Country Club.

Twelve former Open winners, including defending champion Donna Capone, head a record field of more than 120 for the 72-hole test.

It's a necessity because everybody's doing it. We're just keeping up with the Joneses."

The Joneses are going for synthetic surfaces for their football fields at a startling rate. Seven professional fields and more than 30 college stadiums either have installed the man-made grass the athletes call mod-sod or have contracted to make the conversion for the 1970 season.

The boom stems from the fact that artificial surfaces are more durable and more resistant to inclement weather than grass. The major element in that is uniformity of conditions, and potentially a more exciting game for the fans.

"You'll see a harder hitting football game here at Pittsburgh now," says center Ray Mansfield of the pro Steelers, "because you can get more traction on the surface."

"The turf helps the team with speed," says Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, "and we haven't been recruiting any slow players." "We have adopted an offense that is more wide open," says Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks. "Insuring that we will have sure footing will be to our advantage."

Harder hitting, more speed a wide-open game—those are the prospects for football in the 1970s on fields carpeted with synthetic surfaces.

It also may solve a major problem in pro football—major league baseball relations—the problem of stadium availability where there is dual occupancy. Usually the pro football team is barred from stadium use until the baseball season ends. But artificial turf may change that.

Since a pro football team can not rip up the durable nylon threads of the synthetic surface, a football game could be played right before a baseball game without damage to the field. That would significantly reduce pro football's scheduling problems.

But of all the contributions mod-sod may make to football the most significant could be in the reduction of injuries.

While surveys made so far are inconclusive there is some evidence that the incidence of major injury is reduced on artificial surfaces, although many players, college and pro, complain of skid burns and Astro Toe-bruises on the big toe.

Most Reds Happy With New Home

CINCINNATI (AP) — The fancy scoreboard at Riverfront Stadium did not flash any pictures on its message board section Tuesday night.

The entire scoreboard was not working and neither was the "Big Red Machine," as Cincinnati bowed to Atlanta 8-2 in christening its new home before a near capacity crowd of 50,050.

But the Reds seemed to shrug off the loss and had little but praise for their new home. Many thought the conditions were "beautiful."

"I like the AstroTurf and I like the park," outfielder Pete Rose said after the game. "I saw the ball real well out there and it took real good natural hops."

Before the contest Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said "I like it. The ball hops better without the infield dirt. After they see this there won't be any infields with dirt. They'll all be this way. It's just great."

Except for around the bases and pitcher's mound the field is covered with AstroTurf—unlike other parks which only have the turf in the outfield.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn who participated in pregame ceremonies said in an interview, "Ball parks like this are an exquisite addition to baseball. I'm delighted with it. This is a beautiful stadium, one of the best."

Columbus Jets Win Pair From Louisville

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Columbus Jets took a doubleheader from Louisville, 9-4 and 4-0, in International League baseball Tuesday while Toledo split a twin bill with Rochester.

George Kopacz batted in five runs for Columbus in the first game while Milt May provided the offensive power for the second with a three-run homer in the second inning. Jets hurler Gene Garber pitched a three-hitter in the nightcap.

Gene Taylor gave up seven hits in pitching Toledo to a 6-1 victory over the Red Wings in the night's second game. Rochester captured the opener 5-2.

"We have adopted an offense that is more wide open," says Oklahoma Coach Chuck Fairbanks. "Insuring that we will have sure footing will be to our advantage."

Harder hitting, more speed a wide-open game—those are the prospects for football in the 1970s on fields carpeted with synthetic surfaces.

It also may solve a major problem in pro football—major league baseball relations—the problem of stadium availability where there is dual occupancy. Usually the pro football team is barred from stadium use until the baseball season ends. But artificial turf may change that.

Since a pro football team can not rip up the durable nylon threads of the synthetic surface, a football game could be played right before a baseball game without damage to the field. That would significantly reduce pro football's scheduling problems.

But of all the contributions mod-sod may make to football the most significant could be in the reduction of injuries.

While surveys made so far are inconclusive there is some evidence that the incidence of major injury is reduced on artificial surfaces, although many players, college and pro, complain of skid burns and Astro Toe-bruises on the big toe.

Powell And Baltimore Top Struggling Indians, 4-2

BALTIMORE (AP) — Boog Powell didn't like what he was seeing, and neither did Manager Earl Weaver. Now, the opposition might not like Baltimore's new-look line-up.

Moved into the third slot in the batting order, with the menacing bat of Frank Robinson looming behind, Powell rapped two homers Tuesday night as the Orioles beat Cleveland 4-2 to end a three-game losing streak.

"Nobody was pitching to Boog," Weaver said of Baltimore's slugging first baseman, who entered the game with only one homer in his last 65 times at bat.

"Now, if a pitcher gets behind 2-and-0, and sees Frank in the batting circle, Weaver said, 'Boog might get a couple extra good pitches.'"

Powell singled in his first trip

against Cleveland rookie Steve Dunning, rapped a two-run homer in the third inning and a solo blast in the fifth brought Boog's homer total to 20 for the season.

In addition to leading the Orioles in homers, Powell also sets the pace with 53 walks, 53 runs batted in and 83 hits. His .317 average ranks just below Robinson's .321.

The Orioles had lost five of their last seven games, but their seventh consecutive victory over the Indians this season increased to three games Baltimore's lead over New York in the American League's Eastern Division.

Dave McNally, who yielded nine hits and walked five, struggled on a humid night but hurled a complete game and brought his record to 12-3.

Dave Pearson Not Happy With Daytona Speedway

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Speed's the game at Daytona International Speedway. To graying David Pearson, speed is a money-making game. But the 33-year-old driving ace had rather do his 200-m.p.h. thing elsewhere.

Pearson clocked the second best time in Tuesday's opening trials for the Firecracker 400, scheduled for a 10 a.m. Saturday start.

Doing an average of 188.750 miles an hour isn't bad.

Yet, Pearson isn't at all happy on this steeply-banked course that covers 2.5 miles.

"Drivers don't like this race track," he said in an interview. "If any of them tell you the truth, they will say they don't like to run here."

"I'm not scared," Pearson added quickly. "If I have control of the throttle, I'm not going to be scared. And, I'm not going to drive if I'm scared."

He gets uneasy on the 31-degree banks at both ends of the speedway. Pearson says the Ford feels as though it's about to leave the ground when topping 180 miles an hour.

He looked at the entry list, which had some unfamiliar names, and liked things even less.

"It's bad enough," he said, "to move up from modified to Grand National on the short track. This is a bad race track to try in your first time."

Anyone not familiar with his record might be surprised that the 35-year-old Spartanburg, S.C., veteran won NASCAR's Grand National title, including 1968-69. He won the Firecracker 400 in 1961, has been no worse than fourth since 1967 and was second in last February's Daytona 500.

Pearson and Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., said the Dodge-Plymouth entries here have an edge because of the famed rear stabilizer wing and turned-down nose. Yet, Cale's Mercury was fastest in practice 190.162 m.p.h. and Pearson's Ford next at 188.750.

U.S. Women's Open To Start Thursday

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) —The world's top women golfers go to war Thursday against par and Oklahoma's wind and heat as the U.S. Women's Open tees off at Muskogee Country Club.

Twelve former Open winners, including defending champion Donna Caponi, head a record field of more than 120 for the 72-hole test.

Columbus Jets Win Pair From Louisville

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Columbus Jets took a doubleheader from Louisville, 9-4 and 4-0, in International League baseball Tuesday while Toledo split a twin bill with Rochester.

George Kopacz batted in five runs for Columbus in the first game while Milt May provided the offensive power for the second with a three-run homer in the second inning. Jets hurler Gene Garber pitched a three-hitter in the nightcap.

Gene Taylor gave up seven hits in pitching Toledo to a 6-1 victory over the Red Wings in the night's second game. Rochester captured the opener 5-2.

435-Carat Stone Devoted To Peace

BIG SPARKLER — Placed alongside a ruler, the 435-carat "Light of Peace" rough diamond is approximately two inches in height. It will be cut into a pear-shaped diamond of approximately 140 to 150 carats.

By JAMES FLOWERS
Central Press Association
Correspondent

NEW YORK — Picture, if you will, a 435-carat diamond. Then, gals, picture yourselves wearing it draped around your neck. You can bet it would make Liz Taylor, that other well-known diamond facier, green with envy.

Oh, yes, the rock is for real — and it's right here in the U.S.A.

Recently named "Light of Peace" by its owner — the Zale Corporation (jewelry, specialty stores) — the fabulous stone is being dedicated to the cause of peace with a unique plan already underway.

Currently in "rough" form the huge stone was discovered in West Africa last year and ranks as one of the great finds of the world. After cutting it will be the 14th largest diamond on record.

When the "Light of Peace" is cut it is estimated the stone will produce the second largest pear-shaped diamond in history of approximately 140 to 150 carats with a value of between $3 million to $5 million. Also, there will be some 75 to 80 carats of satellite diamonds ranging in size from approximately two to 20 carats.

The largest known pear-shaped diamond is the 530-carat Cullinan I, which is in the British Crown Jewel Collection. Like the Cullinan I, the "Light of Peace" diamond will be classified finest white in color — the most valuable and rarest in diamonds of large size.

Other great diamonds are: The Cullinan II, 317.40 carats, (white cushion); Great Mogul, 280 carats, (white rose-cut); De Beers, 234.50 carats, (yellow); Orlov, 199 carats, (white rose-cut); and the Regent, 140 carats, (white cushion).

The "Light of Peace" was purchased by Zale on the rough diamond market in Europe with defending the capital. Military experts said the lull in fighting after almost a month of enemy attacks indicated the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had been thrown off balance by continuation of large-scale South Vietnamese drives. Enemy forces were believed pulling back into their base areas in Northern Cambodia to regroup and refit. But some observers pointed out that in South Vietnam periods of low activity are usually followed by renewed attacks.

Tons of arms and ammunition are also arriving by road and by air for Cambodian forces. Military sources said U.S. planes have ferried in some 30,000 American carbines and some 9,000 captured weapons, most of them AK47 assault rifles found in supply dumps along the border.

Cambodia's deposed chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, ended a two-week state visit to North Korea today and left by train, presumably for Peking.

Vote-Counting Speedup Nixed

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Hamilton County Board of Elections has voted to shelve proposals to speed up the Coleman Vote Tabulation System by purchasing extra vote-counting equipment.

In a unanimous decision Tuesday, the board said that it hoped internal improvements could be made in existing equipment before the November general election.

The Coleman system has been a target of much criticism because of its slow count and even Ohio Secretary of State Ted Brown was critical of the system following the May 5 primary election.

Washington School Honored

Several persons from the county recently received recognition for their concern and efforts made in behalf of kidney disease.

At the Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio luncheon June 17, Oakley H. Leist, Washington Twp. School principal and Mrs. Cecil Ramsey, teacher, were presented educational awards by the Foundation for promoting interest and attention to the students of the nature of kidney disease.

Washington Twp. pupils engaged in the collection of 50,000 Betty Crocker coupons and completed and submitted posters to the Foundation contest in their "Lend A Helping Hand" project.

Students of Mrs. Ramsey's class were honored for having collected the most (7,000) Crocker coupons. A poster submitted by the school, "Ken Kidney," has been accepted as the official informal Foundation Logo.

Posters submitted by five of the Washington Twp. students, Belinda Seimer, Deborah Betz, Patty Rhodes, Shelley Marquart and Susan Barnett will be used by the Foundation in meetings throughout the state.

Mrs. Helen Knece of Route 1, Kingston, was presented a "Good Neighbor Award" as Crocker coupon area chairman.

The most recent count of coupons collected in the county is 155,000. The kidney foundation is attempting to collect 600,000 Betty Crocker and/or General Mills coupons by mid-December. The coupons will be used to purchase a life-saving artificial kidney machine for a Central Ohioan in need of its services.

Washington Twp. School students and staff members continue to collect the coupons. The City of Circleville has four collection points where coupons may be deposited. They are Police Department, Salvation Army, Revco and Bingham Drugs. Coupons may also be mailed to Mrs. Knece.

Claim Camp For Migrants Miserable

GENEVA, Ohio (AP) — The Director of the Spanish mission for the Cleveland Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church says conditions are so bad in a migrant labor camp operated by a Geneva Township man, "I wouldn't keep my dog in that camp."

The Rev. Stan Pack, who says he visited four labor camps this week, outlined conditions Tuesday to Raul Vega, Cleveland field representative for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. Discussing conditions in one camp that houses and feeds 22 Puerto Rican workers employed by Wayside Gardens Co. of Mentor, Father Pack said there was rotten meat in the freezers and "the smell from a pan of sauce would knock you back 10 feet."

He said there were "no screens on the windows. If you open a window, you get bugs. If you keep the window closed, you suffocate. . . . The men work 14 hours a day and come back to a dark, hot, dingy camp."

The camp he referred to is operated by Norman Potiker on Austin Road. Potiker receives $28 per man per week from wayside and says he loses $150 to $200 a week on the deal. Vega said he would take Father Pack's complaints to the Puerto Rican Migration Division Department of Labor in Chicago.

In support of the company's conviction, Lipshy announced the formation of a commission which will make recommendations for awarding monies to a meaningful peace effort. Derived from public showings of the "Light of Peace" and a grant of a quarter of a million dollars by Zale, the funds will be administered through the Zale Foundation or a separate foundation.

Arthur J. Goldberg, former Supreme Court Justice and former United States ambassador to the United Nations, has been named to head the commission.

Cutting operations on the rough diamond are about to begin and it is expected that all of the stones will be cut and polished in nine to 12 months. However, the "Light of Peace" will, of course, be cut and polished first.

"While there are two methods of dividing a rough diamond, cleaving and sawing, the diamond itself usually dictates the best method to be used," says Allen Ginsberg, who heads Zale's International Diamond Division.

"Although more diamonds lend themselves to sawing than cleaving, we still must consider the stone's shape, flaws, if any, structure and composition."

According to Ginsberg, before any diamond is divided, the experts give careful consideration to getting the optimum size, shape and quality in the resulting stone.

"We feel that appearance or shape is as important as color and degree of perfection," Ginsberg said. "In the case of the 'Light of Peace,' a group of diamond experts studied it thoroughly and decided that there was no question that the rough contains, as its principal diamond, a pear shape."

At the press conference announcing the gem's peace mission this writer overheard the following comment: "Wouldn't you know that a Texan would come up with the largest diamond in America?" (Board Chairman Morris B. Zale is from Dallas.)

ROCKETED—Two residents of the Israeli settlement of Kiryat Shmona, near the Lebanese border, examine smashed wall of a house struck by Palestinian guerrilla rockets. One person was killed and two were wounded in this attack, one of two on the settlement.

Name Publicity Chief

URBANA, Ohio (AP) —Richard D. Martin, 29, city editor of the Springfield News, has been named director of public information at Urbana College, it was announced today by President Paul A. Zehner.

NEW PRODUCTION OF HAIR—Laurie Weisman, 2, has great fun in the toy department of a department store in Allentown, Pa., as she tries out the latest fad for little girls, a synthetic fiber wig just like mommy's.

Baboon Trespassers

MIDDLEBURG, South Africa (AP) — A large troop of baboons, ignoring signs that "trespassers will be prosecuted," has moved into the army's 650-acre training grounds near here. From this sanctuary they are raiding maize (corn) crops and frustrating farmers who are unable to pursue them when they return to the training area. The baboons have even had a population explosion and boosted their numbers to about 200.
